FOR ASSEMBLY,
P. E. WOMELSDORF, of Philipsburg,
HARRY R. CURTIN, of Roland,

FOR JURY COMMISSIONER,
JOHN D. DECKER, of Potter twp.

HOW IS IT?

The well intentioned citizen who has not yet decided how to vote at the coming election may well consider his ground. I hope he will inquire of himself how he likes the conditions since the Republican party has gone out of power. How has it been with him individually? Has he had steady employment? Is he paid the old Republican wage rate? Does he find the cost of living cheaper and the ability to meet that cost better? Is his business prosperous? Is he as contented and confident of the future as before? When he has answered to himself these vital questions let him, on his way to the polls, pass the silent mill, the cold furnace, the broken bank, the deserted forge, let him pass by poverty and want, business paralyzed and confidence vanished, and then record his judgment of the responsibility for these conditions and his hope for the future in the ballot which he places in the box.—From speech of General Hastings at the League of Clubs convention.

THIS IS THE TIME.

This is the time for the best endeavors of prtriotism. If it shall grasp the great opportunity now presented the Republican party will enter upon a new if not a grander career in the redemtion of the land from material and industrial paralysis, from the lack of confidence, which is the father of panics, from that commercial frenzy which drives solvency to the wall, and from that unscrupulous quality of demagogy which seeks to array class against class, capital against labor, and section against section.—From speech of General Hastings at League of Clubs convention.

The Watchman thinks our candidate for Associate Judge Benjamin Rich is not making much of a canvass, considering it a forlorn hope. We do not know just what Mr. Rich is doing, but he is going to get there just the same. He is a square man and will make a good judge he will receive every republican vote in the county and many others not in the past classed as republican. Vote for Benjamin Rich for associate judge.

REMEMBER a vote for W. C. Arnold is a vote for better times a vote in the interest of this district and the state of Pennsylvania every poor man is interested in sending to Congress a man who will do all that can be done to make such times as will give work to all who labor.

M. L. McQUOWN, our candidate for state senator has a walk over and is certain of election, this however should not prevent every republican from doing all that can be done to make his majority as large as possible. Let us poll every vote possible for McQuown.

P. E. WOMELSDORF, our candidate for assembly is a working man and understands what workingmen need in State legislation. Vote for Womelsdorf for the legislature.

THIS is the year that every republican should stick to the ticket and not only stick to the ticket but turn out and vote for a man.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, Oct, 15, 1894.
From Our Regular Correspondent.)

Secretary Carlisle ought to feel ashamed of having lent himself to the trumped up charge against Mr. Morton, the republican candidate for governor of New York, of having violated the alien contract labor law, knowing when he did so that it was done for no other purpose than to attempt to array the labor organizations of New York against Mr. Morton, and that no attempt was really to be made to convict Mr. Morton of the absurd charge, the idea being merely to keep the matter open until the election. The facts in the case, which were promptly stated by Mr. Morton as soon as his attention was called to the matter, are plain enough for even the most bigotted democrat to see. The man in question is an Englishman who was employed by Mr. Morton as a domestic servant—a class expressly excepted by the alien contract law, and a class in which white male Americans are seldom found—while he was in London, and who returned with him in that capacity when he came home. Had Mr. Morton not been the candidate for Governor of New York the case never would have been heard of. As it is, the bringing of such a charge is an acknowledgment by the democrats of their desperate condition in New York, and it is not likely to influence the vote of any intelligent man against Mr. Morton. On the contrary, it is more likely to make him votes among men who are too honorable to countenance such dishonorable methods on the part of the democratic, or any other party.

From North, from West, from East, aye, and from the South, too, nothing but good news comes to the republican Congressional campaign committee. The people are thoroughly alive to the necessity of putting an effectual stop to democratic legislation before it has brought the country to even a worse condition than it now finds itself in, and they know that the first step needed is to put the republican party in control of the House, and unless all indications are at fault they are going to do it next month.

The figures contained in the annual report of the commissioner of pensions, for the year ending June 30, 94, tell a story of the manner in which the old soldiers have been treated by the democratic officials that ought to make every democrat blush with shame. The commissioner covered into the Treasury the enormous amount of $25,205,712,65, which remained unexpended of the money appropriated for pensions by Congress, while there remained unacted upon in the files of the Office applications for pensions and for increase of pensions to the number of 619,027. During the entire twelve months covered by the report only 39,085 new pensioners were added to the rolls, while for death and other causes 37,951 were dropped. It adds to the bitterness of the story to say that only 40,148 of the large number of applications remaining unacted upon were filed during the year. And at this very minute a large portion of the clerical force of the Pension Bureau, which should be at work on the unacted upon applications, are putting in their time on work that has no proper connection with pensions—trying to elect democratic Congressmen. Every old soldier who votes the democratic ticket endorses the pension and other policies of the administration.

Oh yes, this administration dispenses reform in great big chunks all the time. It was democratic reform that carried five members of the Cabinet to Batavia, New York, incidentally to hear another member of the Cabinet—Secretary Carlisle—deliver an address on Robert Morris, but principally to try to help along the tottering democratic campaign in that State, and it was also democratic reform that caused the Cabinet party, which included a number of ladies, to allow themselves to be hauled from Washington to Batavia and back again in the private cars of two railroad magnates, furnished gratis by the railroads and even provided with refreshments, liquid and otherwise, at the expense of the ever big hearted railroads—big hearted in their dealings with Officials who can be used by them.

A great many people are asking whether an official opinion rendered by Solicitor Reeve, of the Treasury department, will result in a flood of paper money, similar to the "red dog" and "wild cat" currency of state-bank days. The opinion is that any county, the constitution of the state in which it is located permitting, has the legal right to issue interest bearing bonds in any denominations it may see fit, and that such bonds are not liable to federal taxation. It is believed that under this opinion, unless it is upset by the courts, a county could issue bonds as low as $1 each and make the interest so low that they could be used as currency, thus practically issuing its own money, which would be a little more than even the wildest populist in Congress has ever advocated, to say nothing of its knocking-out the law which imposes a tax of 10 percent on all currency other than that issued by the Government a law which Congress at its last session very positively declined to repeal.

As to Human Rights.

"Under the Constitution of the United States," remarks a populist contemporary, "every person is guaranteed an absolute right to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness." We suppose the writer had in mind the "inalienable right" mentioned in the "immortal Declaration." He is not the first publicist who has written in a loose way on the subject of human rights. It is a pleasant topic and naturally inspires any writer who has a proclivity to a gushing style.

Neither the Constitution of the United States nor that of any other country undertakes to "guarantee an absolute right to life," and since the greater includes the less, the absence of this "guarantee" implies that the others are lacking. Society has a lien on the life of every man. Not only can it put a period to his existence, but it can deprive him of "liberty and the pursuits of happiness." Society, acting through its lawmakers, defines the conditions under which life may be retained, as well as those under which one may hold to a limited extent his liberty and opportunities to seek happiness.

The restrictions are not by any means confined to criminal laws. Our Government rests, as do all human governments, on brute force. When the honor or the life of the Government is threatened it calls for men to take up arms in its defence. If this call does not bring men enough for the emergency the Government takes the citizen—using force if necessary—from his home and wife and children, puts a musket in his hand and stands him up in line of battle. There is not much "guarantee of absolute right" to the individual in all that, but it is indispensable to the existence of organized society that Government should be clothed with plenary authority over life and liberty.

Each individual is entitled to all the liberty that is consistent with the general good. In republic the majority of those citizens who are clothed with the privilege of suffrage decide what degree of liberty a person may have and under what conditions a citizen may pursue happiness. The majority may lawfully blow up or tear down a man's house, may take his property for public uses, or may run a railroad through his graveyard. The majority may lawfully decide how high or of what material a citizen shall build a house. It may forbid him to keep a cow or poultry. It may, and it does, hedge every citizen about with almost numberless restrictions, all intended for the public good. There may possibly be such a possession as an "absolute right," but we are unable to name it. Life and all that belongs to it are at the disposal of the Governments of the nation and the State.—Washington Post.

Smallpox on Board.

Quarantine, S. I. Oct 15.—The steamer Kron Prinz Frederick Wilhelm from Naples, with eight cabin and 499 steerage passengers on board, was detained at Quarantine owing to the discovery that a steerage passenger was suffering from smallpox. The patient, it was found, had been mingling with his fellow passengers, exposing all to the disease. All of the steerage passengers will be vaccinated and transferred to Hoffman Island to await the development of the disease for a period of fourteen days. The cabin passengers were sent to the dock this evening. The steamer will be disinfected and released sometime to-morrow.

THERE is no doubt about John G. Love having fifteen hundred majority in Huntingdon county, but that has nothing to do with Centre county. It should be the earnest desire and hope of every republican that he should also carry his own county. There should be every effort made to reach this result, it can be done and we believe will be done. He is the only man in the field worthy of the support of voters who want a home candidate and a man every way qualified to fill the position. Vote for John G. Love Esq. for president judge of this district.

HARRY CURTIN is a Centre countian from his birth, and well qualified to represent this county in the legislature, "put none but Americans on guard." Vote for Harry Curtin.

REMEMBER every vote cast for W. C. Arnold for Congress is a vote to protect the interest of Pennsylvania from the raid of the southern freetrader.

EVERY republican should turn out to vote this year. Vote the republican ticket and for better times. Vote the whole ticket from Hastings to Decker.

Weekly Financial Review.

NEW YORK, Oct 13, 1894.

The Stock Market as yet shows no signs of violent change either for better or worse, notwithstanding the "professionals" are likely to remain in control, in the absence of fresh features calculated to attract a substantial demand from the public. The industrial properties continue to absorb more than their share of attention, and still form the disturbing element in the market, inasmuch as they are destroyers of confidence, and are causing other securities to suffer unnecessarily and without special reason. There are but few unfavorable situations, however, out of which do not come some good result, and this one is not likely to be an exception, as in the end it will tend toward a revulsion of feeling which will place the industrials in the background, and speculative favoritism will once more be with the good railroad stocks. The movement has been "worked" for nearly all it is worth in connection with the former class of securities, and the tremendous losses which outsiders have suffered as a result of insiders' manipulation are undoubtedly going to prove a lesson not easily forgotten, and one which will naturally turn the current of speculation away from manipulated stocks and towards securities the movements of which are governed by natural causes and not by the machinations of a few men. The situation of the railroads is encouraging as far as the outlook is concerned, and although their present condition is not all that could be desired or may be expected later on, it is at least a guarantee of better things to come; and earnings are good when the general condition of business throughout the country is considered. It must be remembered that railroad returns now are being compared with those of a particularly prosperous period, when the bulk of the World's Fair business was being done. When they are compared with the ordinary traffic returns, the showing is not so poor after all; and with the [illegible] improvement in net receipts is good when the general business situation begins to mend with more rapidity, as soon it will. The "Granger" stocks have suffered for a long time on the prospect of small corn crop this year; but this idea has undoubtedly been carried too far, as present indications certainly point to the prospect of considerably larger yield than at first expected. The Washington Agricultural Report, issued on the 10th instant, shows that wheat and corn had increased over their estimate of last month and information from private sources from almost every direction is to the effect that the crops this year are much underestimated by the Government. All these form another reason why an improvement may be looked for later on, for when a stock or class of stocks is duly depressed, a reaction is natural when the cause for the depression is removed or discovered to be principally the result of error. It has always been a practical impossibility to induce the public to buy stocks when they are away down; but after the range of prices has advanced to a considerable extent, outsiders begin to buy. The thing to do is to purchase while it can be done at low prices and before a growing demand has advanced values. This ought to be a good time to buy properties which enjoy confidence, with the idea of putting them away and holding them for a few months at least, by which time the prices for all good securities will in all probability reach a much higher level. London, though for some time past having shown a much more marked degree of confidence in American railways, is at present doing a little liquidation, as a result principally of the slight fear of political disturbances. Should this continue, it may result in a moderate shipment of gold from this side, unless there should spring up an increased demand abroad for our grain and cotton. The strength in the sterling exchange market has naturally entered into the situation to a certain extent as an unfavorable factor; but with the present superabundance of money and low rates therefore it should cause no uneasiness. The bears, however, are disposed to make the most of it to depress prices; their raids will furnish excellent opportunities to pick up cheap stocks for quick and profitable turns, and thereby be a blessing in disguise for those who avail of such opportunities. HENRY CLEWS.

THE process of acquiring Valley Forge as a State Park seems to be making reasonable headway. The jury appointed to assess damages to owners of over two hundred acres of the land has made its awards, amounting to $28,532.

While this sum is somewhat in excess of the appropriation made by the Legislature, which was but $25,000, it does not appear to be an excessive award for the amount of land condemned, and there is little doubt that the next Legislature will make good the deficit and make an additional appropriation for putting the grounds in proper condition for park purposes.

The determination to preserve as the domain of the public such historic places as Valley Forge is thoroughly commendable. Pennsylvania has a number of places of this kind, including portions of the historic fields of Braddock's, Brandywine and Germantown, and other scarcely less notable localities, the preservation of which would serve to stimulate patriotism.

Unfortunately it is too late to save some of the most valued historic localities of Colonial days, but those which can be acquired by the State or municipalities and perpetually preserved for public purposes should not be allowed to fall into further decay or to be diverted to private uses.

The aw-Bone Gladiators.

It is the custom of bad actors of various kinds to get themselves talked about in the newspapers; and the newspapers unfortunately are only too ready to give them gratis an amount of advertising that they could never get by paying for it, or in any way honestly earning it. But it does seem that these so-called prize-fighters—who are simply variety actors of a particularly brutal stripe, that do not even perform their own "act" reasonably well—have carried the business of free advertising to a nauseating extent.

If these men were what they profess to be, exponents of the manly art, well-trained athletes, skillful fighters, there might be some reason for the parade which they make of themselves. But they are fighters who do not fight. They travel about from town to town to exhibit themselves, each breathing out threatenings and slaughter against the other, but taking good care never to come together. Two of them have just arranged that they will keep apart for at least ten months longer, during which time they are to remain on the road gathering in the money of the fools who can be beguiled into attending their exhibitions.

The whole business is an egregious example of what honest showmen regard as a fake. Men who really can and do perform feats of strength, ability or skill travel about quietly, pay for their advertising, and gain reward in some proportion to their deservings. These humbugs could not live a month on what they earn by their "turn" in a variety show, and the marvel of it is that so large a section of the American public, who are supposed to know a humbug when they see it, should continue to be imposed upon by the gladiators whose only weapon is one which has never been put to useful account since Samson employed it against the Philistines.

Digestibility of Foods.

Animal foods, such as meat, fish, eggs and milk, are rather more digestible than most of the vegetable foods, although bread made from ordinary white wheat flour is very easily and completely digested. Bread from whole wheat flour or that from which only part of the bull of the grain has been removed is not so completely digestible, but is decidedly healthful for some people in aiding the intestines.

There are great differences in people in respect to their power for utilizing different kinds of food. Milk is one of the most wholesome and digestible of foods, and yet there are people who cannot endure it. Late research makes it probable that the change which all milk undergoes in the body injurious compounds are sometimes formed, and that this is the reason why milk does not agree with some people. The case is the same with eggs, with certain fruits, as the strawberry, and indeed with many different food materials. Hence it may be literally true that "one man's meat is another man's poison." But while there are exceptions, the general rule holds good that for ordinary people with good powers of digestion and assimilation, the nutritive values of the ordinary standard food materials are measured pretty accurately by their chemical composition, and that the right mixtures of food are those which furnish the nutrients in the proportions demanded by the body. —Prof. W. O. Atwater in Good Housekeeping.

GEORGE E. HUFF, Galusha A. Grow and W. C. Arnold for Congress, should receive such a vote in Centre county as will give the administration to understand what we think of the free trade tariff and the awful dull times from which we have suffered for the last two years. Vote for Huff, Grow and Arnold and you will have done what you can to correct vicious legislation and democratic hard times.

EVERY republican turn out and vote for John G. Love for President Judge that is all that is required to give him a majority there are more republicans this year than ever before the woods is full of them.

Ripans Tabules: one gives relief.

ROBINSON CONFESSES.

And Implicates His Wife in a Cold-Blooded Tragedy.

Cleveland, October 15.—At noon today, in the presence of two Buffalo officials a Cleveland detective and the jail turnkey Clarence Robinson, confessed having murdered Lawyer Montgomery Gibbs, of Buffalo. He implicated his wife, saying that she fired one of the shots. The only purpose of the crime was robbery. Robinson refused to say anything until one the Buffalo officials told him his wife had told all of the details of the shooting to the Buffalo authorities and that he might as well give up what he knew. At this point the man broke down completely and cried like a child. Between his sobs he told the story of the crime. In detail he said that his wife, who is now under arrest at Buffalo, and he followed Gibbs in Delaware avenue, Buffalo, and assaulted him Gibbs showed fight, and in the tussel that followed was getting the better of it, when the woman put her revolver to his head and fired. The woman was dressed in men's attire at the time, and had done several jobs with her husband, according to his statement.

Robinson was in a pitiable condition this evening and fears were entertained that he would lose his reason. For hours after the confession was made he laid on his cot in the hospital cell of the county jail moaning, sobbing and muttering incoherently.

"I want to die; my heart is broken," he muttered between his sobs. The turnkey of the jail ordered a fine dinner for the man, but he would not touch it. "I will never another mouthful," he asserted. A physician was sent for and he prescribed a quieting drug, but Robinson refused to take it. The unfortunate man will be guarded night and day to prevent suicide. Robinson is not the desperado that his crime would indicate. He is but 23 years old, undersized and intelligent. Up to less than a year ago he was in the real estate and loan business in Mount Vernon, Knox county, this state. His father, Winfield Robinson, was one of the wealthiest and most highly respected farmers in the county. His uncle was for years prosecuting attorney of Knox county. Robinson and his wife, the woman who led up to his ruin, were brought up together, the latter having been raised by Robinson's grandfather. On the 30th of last January they were married in Mansfield, O. The woman seemed to have a mesmeric influence over Robinson and induced him to give up his business and invest in a theatrical enterprise. He lost his money, stranded in Buffalo, where they, or rather the woman according to Robinson's story, shot Gibbs. Robidson says that he will plead guilty to-morrow in the first degree. He has no desire to live. His family has been notified against his wishes.

Sensational Struggle Decided at Last

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 15.—The long and sensational struggle for the possession of the person and estate of E. M. Byers, the Allegheny ironmaster, was decided to-day. Henry Warner was appointed committee for the insane man. While Warren was agreed upon by Mrs. Byers and A. M. Byers, his selection is really a victory for Mrs. Byers. E. M. Byers is still in the Pennsylvania hospital for insane at Philadelphia. The appointment was made by Judge Ewing, in common pleas. The bond is fixed at $100,000. Mr. Warner was for many years controller of Allegheny county and also held the position of superintendent of the Allegheny county workhouse. The trustees will investigate the allegations made by Mrs. Byers that the estate of her husband has been illegally absorbed.

James Schofield made speaches in this county before the last presidential election promising if Cleveland was elected wheat would go up to $1.25 per bushel. Cleveland was elected, and wheat fell from 85 to 55 cents per bushel, this is the way democratic promises always pan ont. James is in his element as a democratic orator, he can run wild without any regard to facts and that is what he likes. The voters want a man at Harrisburg this year that has better judgment as to the effect of certain legislation on business interests, and will therefore, vote for Harry Curtin to take his place, one term is enough for Jim.

—"Keystone March" is the name of a new composition by Mr. Lee B. Woodcock. The piece is respectfully dedicated to Gen. D. H. Hastings. It is full of dash and spirit, and we predict for it great popularity and a large sale. Mr. Lee B. Woodcock displays great ability in his productions, and we anticipate a day in the near future when his compositions will rank even with those of the greatest music writers of this generation. "Keystone March" is now on sale at Bush's book store and Aiken's music store.

THE STAMP ROBBERY.

It Was Much Larger Than First Reported.

Washington, Oct. 12.—The stamp robbery at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing discovered yesterday, turns out to be much larger than at first suspected. Instead of one package containing fifty thousand two-cent stamps, it is now believed that over 200,000 and possibly 250,000 stamps of various denominations, are missing.

The stealing has been going on for thirty days, and seems to have been the result of a plot. William B. Smith, formerly of Plainfield, New Jersey, and George W. Longstreet, who were employed in the stamp department of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, are under arrest and the detectives are looking for William A. Beach, who was until recently employed in a hotel billiard room in this city, and a man whose name is believed to be Simerstitz. Both men left Washington Wednesday for the purpose of selling stamps.

To day Smith made a proposition to the police authorities to turn state's evidence and make a full confession if they would sign a paper guaranteeing him protection. He said he would implicate government employees much higher than himself. He was told that such protection could not be granted. Smith then told the authorities that he knew where Beach was, but would go to jail before he would tell his whereabouts. The authorities are at a loss as to what to make of Smith's offer, as he has told so many conflicting stories since his arrest.

Longstreet was arrested to-day on the evidence of May Earl and Cora Laboss, two dissolute women who went to New York and Orange, New Jersey, a week or so ago with Smith and Beach. Longstreet is about 35 years old, unmarried and an expert stamp handler and packer. When the government assumed the stamp contracts a few months ago, Longstreet was brought here as an instructor of other men.

Indian Education.

Mohonk Lake, N. Y. Oct. 12.—The third and last day of the Indian conference began with the discussion of the problem of Indian education, opened by Dr. Hailman, superintendent of the Indian schools. Dr. Hailman said he believed that it would be best for the control of the superintendent of Indian schools to be transferred from the Indian bureau to the commission of education. In further discussion of this subject, Gen. John L. Eaton, formerly commissioner of education, said that Gen. Grant, when president, said to him that he hoped that the whole cost of Indian bureaus might be reduced to the matter of education and that it be placed under the commissioner of education.

Rev. Dr. Lemuel Moss said for his denomination, the Baptists, that they had never had their heads in the national treasury. They had Indian missions and paid for them. Bishop Walker of North Dakota described in thrilling terms the present condition of the Devils Lake Indians, who have been for many years self-supporting, but are now actually starving because of the failure of their crops from drought for two years.

Grangers After Ailman.

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct 12—An effort will be made at the annual meeting of the State Grange in this city in December to depose from the office of worthy lecturer, Jerome T. Ailman, the People's party candidate for governor. Ailman is accused of using his office in the grange to make him votes for governor and formal charges will be preferred against him. Ailman's friends not only deny these charges, but claim that Worthy Rhone is trying to deliver granger votes to Hastings in return for the office of state librarian, for which he is an applicant if Hastings is elected. Secretary Thomas will be opposed for re-election by S. S. Blyholder of Armstrong county.

Three Years Work Against Slavery.

Antwerp, Oct. 12.—The steamer Wilhelmine, having on board Baron Dhanis, commander of the Belgium troops in the Congo state, returning from a three years' campaign against the Arab slave traders in that district, arrived here to-day. A special messenger from King Leopold, who bore to Baron Dhanis the greeting of the king, and his majesty's congratulations upon his safe return and the success of the work in which he had been engaged. A series of festivities in honor of Baron Dhanis will begin to-morrow. Baron Dhanis brought with him three converted Arab chiefs with their wives and chidren.

Killed by a Fast Express.

Wilkesbarre, Oct. 12.—Dr. Edward W. Arner, a physician from Allentown, graduate of the University of Vermont, was killed this evening a few miles from this city by a fast express train on the Central Railroad of New Jersey, having stepped out of the way of a freight. He was attending to the practice of Dr. Solt of Mountain Top, while the latter is taking a course of lectures at Philadelphia. Dr. Arner was 27 years old and unmarried.

Moke Smith Cornered.

Washington, Oct. 12.—In regard to the statement by Secretary McKee, of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee, that 50,000 notices have been prepared at the pension office to be sent to pensioners requesting them to show cause why their pensions should not be reduced or dropped, and that Secretary Smith had ordered the forwarding of the communications withheld until after the elections, Commissioner of Pensions Lochren, this afternoon said: "Mr. Secretary McKee is either imposed on by somebody, or is circulating palpable falsehoods." Secretary Smith also characterized the story as a "campaign lie."

Disowned Their Church.

Reading, Pa., Oct. 11.—The eastern Pennsylvania conference of the United Evangelical church, composed of the adherents of Bishop Dubs, adjourned here this evening. It is expected that 100 congregations will ally themselves with the new denomination. It was decided to hold the annual conference next year in Schuylkill Haven, and the time for the next meeting of the general conference was fixed as the last Thursday of next November, at Napersville, Ill. It was decided to continue the relations of this conference with the conference which met in Philadelphia in 1891.

A missionary society was organized with Rev. A. M. Stirk, of Allentown, president, and John Huber, Philadelphia, secretary. A resolution recommending to the general conference that the office of Bishop be abolished was so amended as to make the office a superintendency of the general organization. All the pastors are to continue serving their present congregations during the ensuing year. The full plan of organization was adopted this afternoon.

The enthusiasm of the conference reached its height when the committee on resolutions presented a startling denunciation of the official acts of Bishops Esher and Bowman, drawn in a form similar to the declaration of independence, dissolving all relations with the Evangelical association, appealing to a loyal membership, and trusting in God and the justice of the cause. The resolutions declare that separation alone affords relief in such a crisis after persecution, insult and rejection of offers to arbitrate. They were adopted with an unanimous vote.

Want Fair Play.

Baltimore, Oct. 12.—The national convention at St. Peter Claver union (colored Catholics) closed last night. This resolution was passed:

Resolved, That this congress respectfully request the president of the United States to specifically call the attention of congress to the un-American treatment practiced against the negro citizens of this country, and to the inadequacy of state laws, or the apathy in the enforcement of the same, to give protection to the citizen guaranteed by the national constitution, and that full and accurate information be given of the status of the negro he to request congress to invest him with power to appoint a commission with full authority to make the necessary inquiry into this matter, and that one-third of the membership of said commission be colored men.

Baby Perished by Fire.

Washington, Pa., Oct. 12.—This morning during the momentary absence of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Mowl, from their residence in West Bethlehem township, the house caught on fire. Mowl ran in to save his 5-months-old child, which was sleeping in a cradle. The cradle was carried out, but the infant was not in it. It is supposed that in his excitement the baby was dropped from the cradle. The house and contents were consumed, but no trace of the infant's body can be found. The father was badly burned in his effort to save his child and cannot recover.

ROBBED OF HIS PASSES.

Debs' First Lieutenant Falls Into the Hands of Pickpockets.

Chicago, Oct. 12.—Vice President Geo. W. Howard, of the American Railway Union, who, next to President Debs, has been the most aggressive enemy of the railroads they have ever had, was robbed of about forty annual passes on the largest railway systems in the country while taking a ride on an electric railway car.

Along with Mr. Howard on that unfortunate little journey was Eugene V. Debs himself. Mr. Debs, however, escaped loss. The car was crowded with passengers at the time, and Mr. Howard says in describing his loss, that his attention was attracted by the remarkable action of an ungainly-looking man, who stepped from one end of the platform to the other, raising his leg very high in the air each time. While Mr. Howard watched the man two pals succeeded in picking his pocket.

Several other passengers were robbed at the same time. Mr. Howard's pocketbook contained no money, but he says he would much rather have lost a large sum than his cherished passes, which statement nobody seems inclined to doubt. This afternoon, his name appears in an advertisement offering a reward for the return of his porketbook and directing the thief to bring it to the American Railway Union headquarters in the Ashland block. The strike leader was once before robbed, the pickpocket getting over $100.

—Five thousand marriage licenses have been issued in Blair county since the passage of the marriage license act in 1885. That number was reached Thursday, when the application of 'Squire Henry C. Lorenz, of Roaring Spring, for a license for Mr. Henry Walters and Miss Etta Packner, both of Punxsutawney, was filed. Prothonotary Hartman presented the young couple with a large and handsomely printed certificate, suitable for framing and hanging up as a household ornament.

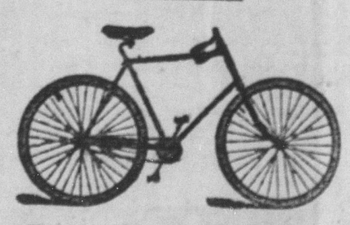
Chestnuts and Hickory Nuts.

The Renova News says: Reports from the country districts around show that the chestnut crop this year is large, and the trees are bending under the load of ripening nuts. Hickory nuts will turn out a good supply. The great supply in sight is said by those who closely watch all such indications, to foreshadow a winter of severe weather.

Where It Gets Its Name.

Jersey Shore owes its curious name to the fact that the region thereabouts was first settled by a colony from New Jersey. The name given by the Pennsylvania half in jest survived the name of Waynesburg chosen by the settlers, and when the place was incorporated in 1826, Jersey Shore became its official name. It is from the Shore of New Jersey.

The Light that Never Fails



The UNION SPECIAL

THE "Union" is what Tyler and Sacger, the world's champions ride to-day. They ride the best, why not you? The best is always the cheapest, especially in bicycles. It means REST for you, if you ride—UNION SPECIAL—after being accustomed to a heavy wheel.

Wheels for sale, exchange and hire, at McCalmont & Co.'s. Prices low and payments easy.

They Are All Good Wheels.

In a local item in a Williamsport paper of an accident in which a section of the stand fell on which were 300 persons, the following words of praise are recorded in favor of the Union Special:

"All of those who saw the section of stand fall at the bicycle roads, with about 300 persons, were not aware that three bicycles were underneath, two being Union Specials, and a road wheel of another make. While the latter was made a subject for the repair shop, the Unions had only two wooden rims broken and later was ridden two events by McDuffie and Gardner, in the race in which McDuffie and Gardner came down in a heap, and one would naturally suppose that the wheels were wrecked; not so of the Union. It has often been said Unions never break and after what we saw yesterday we believe so. It is a fact to-day that Sanger, Tyler and McDuffie are riding the same wheels they took out of the factory at the beginning of the season, a record envied by all other manufacturers."

There is no subject more deserving the thoughtful consideration of business men at this time than the needed reform of our currency system. It is a subject that cannot with safety be left to the politicians or to the vague imagining of amateurs. It is a serious scientific problem and the bankers in convention do well to take it up.

The plan recommended by the Baltimore association seems to come as near to what is needed as any suggestion we have had. It retains all the essential features of the national banking law, but makes the notes issued under it really bank notes based upon the actual resources of the bank.

Under this plan a national bank could issue notes to the amount of one-half its unimpaired capital, subject to a small annual tax, and an additional emergency circulation to the amount of one-fourth the capital subject to an additional tax. This would provide for an expansion of the currency when required and secure its reduction when the emergency was passed. There would be no question of security, the bank providing a redemption fund and being subject to the supervision of the Treasury.

This is a rational banking system, that would bring our currency under the natural control of business laws instead of the artificial and arbitrary control of Congress

The Penalty of Carelessness.

The mine fire at Shamokin, resulting in the loss of five lives, the partial destruction of the mine machinery and the indefinite suspension of work for nine hundred employes' furnishes a striking illustration of the futility of the best mining legislation and the most perfect safeguards against accidents, when the men in whose behalf the law is invoked and life-saving appliances employed through their own carelessness render both the law and protective devices of no effect. A workman, himself the victim of the disaster he precipitated, lighted his open lamp in the air passage and all the law and life-saving device in the world could not prevent the appalling sequence.

It is this factor that makes the effort to protect the miners against the many dangers of their calling so discouraging. There is no calling followed in civilized countries more perilous than that of mining for coal and none in which greater effort has been expended to promote a reasonable degree of safety. But familiarity with danger begets indifference, and the careless miner goes into his chamber before the fire boss has notified him that it is clear of explosive gases, or explores disused gangways with an open lamp, and an explosion follows. Nine out of ten of the modern mine explosions have been due to the carelessness of the men who had most at stake in exercising every precaution against explosion.

The best laws and the most effective protective appliances depend upon men for effective application, and when men grow careless or otherwise inefficient the worst disasters are possible. The misfortune in the case of the coal miners is that one careless man jeopardizes the lives of hundreds and imperils millions of dollars' worth of valuable productive property.

The Japanese must have an army of unlimited number if we are to believe all the reports of their landing on the Chinese coast. But the means of communication are so imperfect and the Chinese themselves are so evidently panic stricken, that there is little confidence to be placed in the current rumors and we shall simply have to await events.

The European powers seem to have reached an understanding as to their joint attitude. They will wait for another battle, which is likely to occur soon, and then will insist that the war has gone far enough They are willing to have Japan whip China, but not to let her gain any territorial advantage thereby. They will look out for them selves.

That China is predestined to defeat seems scarcely dobutful. Apart from her military inefficiency, her famous civil is showing up very badly. Corrupt officials and crooked contractors have ruined more nations than ever were destroyed by military incompetence.

AMONG the many interesting manifestations of religious earnestness at the present time is the organization of lay brotherhoods in the Episcopal church, of young men devoted to work among the poor.

Two young men attached to the church of the Redeemer in New York have just taken the first step toward the foundation of what may be called a medical or nursing order, whose development will be watched with interest. One is a student of medicine at Columbia college and the other is a trained nurse. They have taken only a prohibitory vow and are to serve under the rector of the parish, but they look forward to embracing the religious life as a vocation, and ultimately with the sanction of the bishop, to the establishment of an Order of the Good Samaritan that will unite the care of the sick poor with religious influence and devotion.

There are many sisterhoods devoted to such work, but the religious fervor necessary to this self denying consecration has not been common among the educated young men of our cities of any form of faith.

WESTERN UNION earnings for the year ending June 30 are much more unfavorable than was expected. The figures are somewhat old but as they are supposed to indicate in some measure at least the state of business of the country they are always interesting. The gross was the lowest for several years and was more than $3,000,000 below that of 1893. The net earnings fell off $1,700.000, or an equivalent of nearly two per cent. on the capital stock.

THE collapse of a building in New York city, causing the death of a number of persons, was one of the results of yesterday's moderate gale. The arrest of a contractor concerned in the erection of the building will not meet the requirements of the case. It was evidently a Buddensiek building, and the owner and all concerned should be properly punished.

An Autumn Arbor Day.

The state superintendent of public instruction has designated Friday, October 19, as an Autumn Arbor Day. We hope that it will be generally observed. The enormous destruction of standing forests this past summer has given a new meaning to Arbor Day. We had two Arbor days in the spring and it is appropriate that there should be one in the fall. Some trees bear transplanting better in the fall and there cannot be too much of this thing. Nothing could be better than to have this beautiful interest in tree culture become a fad. A tree planting craze that would line every street and avenue with shade trees and stock every barren hillside and unprofitable field with the making of good timber trees which at once beautify the landscape and lay the foundation of future wealth.

But there are trees and trees. Let not time and space be wasted in planting those which are short lived, have but moderate beauty and less commercial value. The fast growing trees are attractive to an impatient generation because of the rapidity of their growth, and it was always so. The poplar tree was the popular tree as far back as the days of the ancient Romans; hence its name, populus. It is not without its good points, but it is the only tree that will grow lustily on our cemented streets let it be restricted to such use and not be allowed to occupy space where better trees will thrive. For the country roadside the soft maple is always a favorite, though it out grows its strength and breaks and splits in every high wind storm. The American white elm is the roadside tree par excellence, whether in wide city streets or in suburban avenues or on country roads. The school children will make no mistake on arbor days or other suitable times who plant white elm trees.

For the barren hillsides what can be better than to reforest them with the once abundant and always valuable white pine? There are thousands of acres in the state now practically waste lands which might just as well as not be growing white pine. Our magnificent white oak trees, too, once so abundant, are rapidly disappearing, and nothing is done to replace them. It is seldom that a white oak is planted. The faith and disinterestedness are rare that will give time and patience to starting plants that cannot reach full maturity until the grass has been growing for some centuries over the grave of him who planted them. An oak tree reaches its prime in about 300 years, but it may continue to thrive for a thousand years. We cut and burn this wealth prepared for us before America was discovered but do next to nothing to perpetuate this noble and rapidly disappearing species.

Our trees need guardians, and tree planting in this country needs special fostering. Arbor days help this not so much directly, since the actual tree planting is insignificant compared with the annual destruction, but in awakening an interest in the care, the worth and the beauty of trees and the need of tree culture. The State superintendent of schools has done well to institute a Fall Arbor Day for tree planting. The children of the state cannot be enlisted in a better cause.

The movement for good roads was beaten in this State in 1893 by the veto of Governor Pattison. The bill which passed the Legislature was carefully framed by an excellent road commission appointed for this purpose. It passed the Legislature after much discussion substantially as framed by the commission, and was vetoed without sufficient reason. Next winter a fresh attempt will be made to give the State decent roads, and if the Legislature again decides in favor of as just and proper a measure as this road commission bill there is no damage of its being vetoed by the progressive and broad-spirited gentleman whom the Republicans expect to succeed Governor Pattison.

THE PASTILLE CURE FOR NERVOUS DEBILITY TRADE MARK

Prof. HARRIS' SOLUBLE MEDICATED Pastille

Has been put up in a proprietary form since 1875, and has been used for years prior to that time in private practice. It is no untried nostrum, of doubtful reputation, but a genuine specific for a very prevalent disease. Thousands of men, of all ages, have at some time in life brought on nervous debility and exhaustion, with organic weakness, by over brain work, excesses, too frequent indulgence or indiscretion and vicious habits, and it is to these that we offer a remedy that will, by its direct action upon the seat of the disease, stop the drain and restore the patient to vigorous health and strength.

Our method of introducing Prof. Harris' Pastille treatment is one which commends itself to all sensible persons—for the reason that we supply it upon their judgment of its value. We ask of our patrons nothing in the way of expense beyond a postal card and a two cent postage stamp. The postal card to be used in sending us their full address and the postage stamp for the letter returning the statement of their case for which we supply them with a question blank, to be filled out and an envelope addressed to ourselves for use in returning it when filled.

FREE TRIAL PACKAGE. When we receive the statement on blank we prepare eight days' treatment and forward it by mail and prepay postage thereon—and along with the eight days' treatment we send full directions for using. The treatment in no way interferes with a person's attention to business, and causes no pain or inconvenience in any way.

We are so positive that it will give perfect satisfaction that we leave the matter of sending orders entirely with those using the free trial treatment. Having satisfied those sending for trial packages of our ability to benefit their sexual condition we feel that they are more largely interested than ourselves in continuing the use of the Pastilles. Even then we do not attempt to rob them by demanding high prices. On the contrary, we make the prices as low as possible, and the same to all. They are as follows: $3 for one month; $5 for two months; $7 for three months.

SHAPE & SIZE OF A SEMINAL PASTILLE

These prices secure the delivery of the Pastilles by mail. If desired by express we leave the patient to pay the charges. For over ten years we have operated our business upon this plan with satisfactory results.

We ask all persons needing treatment for any of the secret ills which come to mankind through a violation of nature's laws to send us their address on postal card or by letter and allow us to convince them that PROF. HARRIS' SOLUBLE MEDICATED PASTILLES have merit and are what they need.

IT WAS A VERY CLOSE CALL.

Narrow Escape From a Horrible Accident Near New Orleans.

New Orleans, La., October 14.—Nothing but a miracle prevented one of the most horrible accidents in the history of Louisiana to-day. As it is, about fifteen people were more or less injured and $40,000 worth of railroad property destroyed. The wreck was at the junction of the Louisville and Nashville, and New Orleans and North eastern tracks, about two miles from the city, and occurred just before half past 8 o'clock. The colliding trains were the Louisville and Nashville excursion and the East Louisiana Covington excursion. Both trains were completely filled with pleasure seekers bound for the lake coast resorts on the pine lands of St. Tammany parish.

The seriously injured are—

R. H. Holmes, New Orleans; leg and arm broken and internal injuries.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Willie, Chicago, both bruised on the head badly.

Robert Carey, compound fracture of the right leg, fractured wrist and gash on right temple; dangerously wounded.

The engineer of the Louisville and Nashville train claims he stopped before reaching the crossing and is subetantiated by the passengers on his train, and that he blew the warning whistle that he was going ahead and received no response. He started ahead and then saw the East Louisiana train bearing down on him at a good rate of speed. Having started, it was too late to think of stopping and reversing, so he opened the throttle and tried to get over the crossing before the other train reached him. As subsequent events proved, he failed in his efforts and the consequence was that when the other train struck his the coupling parted and the engine with seven coaches was not stopped for over a hundred yards. The East Louisiana engineer claims that the air brakes refused to work and that when he found that it was impossible to avoid a collision he and his fireman jumped, the latter being the first to leap from the cab. T. P. Simpson, engineer of the East Louisiana train, is under arrest charged with criminal negligence.

He Met Several "Friends."

New York, October 14—Edward Moore, 71 years old, of Pitton Ferry, Luzerne county, Pa., walked into the Leonard street police station this morning in a sad and dilapated condition. He was bleeding from a scalp wound on the head and said that he had been robbed, but by whom he did not know. He said he arrived in Jersey City early Saturday night from Patton Ferry. He crossed the ferry to this city, where he made the acquaintance of "two friends. He said he had two drinks and then he knew nothing more until this morning when he found himself on the river front in a stage suit of clothes which was decidedly seedy, compared with the one that had been stolen from h'm.

An ambulance was summoned and the old man was removed to Chamber Street hospital, where it was learned that several ribs were fractured and his back severely contused besides the scalp wound. Moore said that when he arrived in New York he had $71 and when he looked for it this morning he found only five cents.

Bandits Hold Up a Train.

Washington, Oct, 14.—All Washington was astounded yesterday to learn that seven masked men had held up a train Friday night within a few miles of the national capital, captured a sum supposed to be in the neighborhood of $150,000 to $180,000 and escaped on the engine with their booty.

The train "held up" was the northbound express on the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac railroad, which left Richmond, Va., at 7 Friday evening. The robbery occurred near Acquia Creek, between Brooks station and Wide Water, a wild part of country suited for the purpose.

A Reprieve of Ten Years.

An average business man's life can easily be lengthened ten years by the occasional use of Ripans Tabules. Do you know anyone who wants those ten years?

STARTLING G. A. R. STORY.

Capt. Geo. H. Davenport, the Popular and Well-Known G. A. R. Veteran Relates an Experience. A Leader and Power in Grand Army Circles.

CAPT. GEO. H. DAVENPORT.

Capt. Geo. H. Davenport of Bernadston, Mass., is a most popular and widely known man, especially in Grand Army circles. He is Pension Agent and everybody knows him. He is best known to the whole country through his discovery of "Davenport's Silver Pomade," probably the best article of its kind in the world.

Capt. Davenport is a most entertaining speaker, and his relation of the following incident will be interesting to everybody.

"I had been troubled severely for years with heart disease, and the effects of malarial poison contracted in the army. I was so nervous and weak that I was unable to do any hard work for years.

"I consulted many doctors but have found no good results from them. I finally used Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and can say that it has done great things for me.

"I have been helped in the heart trouble more than from any and all other things I ever used. I find that for weakness and nervous excitement it is a great help. For instance, on Memorial Day I addressed the G. A. R., at Northfield, and on the following day at Whateley, I gave an address before their G. A. R., without any apparent fatigue, which I could not have done before I used Dr. Greene's Nervura.

"I have often recommended this wonderful cure for disease to my friends, and shall be happy to answer any further inquiries from anyone."

The experience of the gallant captain is the experience of everybody. All who use this great curer of disease, this restorer of health and strength, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, report that it invariably makes them well.

The weak, nervous and ailing should try it on the strength of what everybody who has used it says of its wonderful curative powers. It will cure you.

Why waste time in trying uncertain and untried remedies, when here is a physician's prescription, a discovery made by the greatest living specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th St. New York City. If you take this medicine you can consider yourself under Dr. Greene's direct professional care, and you can consult him or write to him about your case, freely and without charge. This is a guarantee that this remedy will cure, possessed by no other medicines in the world.

Pleases Because it is Free.

When a thing is free and at the same time contains great value, being just what everybody wants, it is eageraly songht by all. Every weak, delicate or sickly person will be pleased with the great and generous offer of Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th St., New York City, the noted and successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases. He has established a system of free, letter correspondence, whereby all may write him about their complaint and receive in return a complete description of their ailments, explaining thoroughly the meaning of each symptom, and telling just what to do to be cured. The doctor makes a specialty of treating patients through letter correspondence, giving most careful and explicit attention to every, and explains your case so minutely you understand exactly what your trouble is. All this costs nothing. All those who cannot afford the time or expense of visiting the city can now have the most skillful consultation and advice free of charge, and without leaving their homes. The method is successful. Thousands are being cured by it. Try it. Write the doctor and it will undoubtedly be the means of your getting well.

Pure blood is absolutely necessary in order to enjoy perfect health. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood and strengthens the system.

The Doomed Czar.

Dr. Zacharin, called from Moscow to attend the Czar, and dismissed for telling him that he has an incurable disease, is reported to have admitted the truth of the conjecture in St. Petersburg, that it is cancer. That accords with the statement of a week or so ago, that the disease required a surgical operation. It accords also with the account of the agitation of the Czar when he learned the nature of his disease. Doubtless he recalled the case of the Emporer Frederick of Germany, which went steadily to a fatal end in spite of all that medicine and surgery could do. It was enough to agitate him.

The First Napoleon died of a cancerous ulcer of the stomach, and there are some who think that it was due to his intense mental activity which interfered with the function of digestion or that it developed the inherited germ, as his father died of cancer. May not the worry, anxiety and fear which the Czar has endure for years have done a like thing for him.

MEETING OF CHURCHMEN.

Ministers and Laymen Convene in Williamsport on Tuesday Afternoon.

Williamsport, Oct. 16.—A meeting of unusual importance among churchmen was held in this city this afternoon, consisting of the ministers and many laymen from all parts of the territory covered by the incorporated old Central Pennsylvania conference of the Evangelical association. When the delegation arrived at the Bennett Street Evangelical church, seeing the large numbers and cheerful spirit which prevailed, ministers and laymen burst forth spontaneously in singing the doxology.

Bishop C. S. Haman, of Reading, Pa., was called temporarily to the chair. The bishop conducted devotional exercises in which Bishop W. M. Stanford took part. Much spiritual power was manifest. The convention was permanently organized by the election of Bishop Haman, president; Isaiah Bower, of Berwick, vice president; Rev. A. Stapleton, secretary; J. W. Ruby, treasurer. A cheering fraternal letter from Rev. H. B. Hartzler, D. D., chaplain and Bible teacher in Moody's Bible school at East Northfield and Mount Herman, Mass., was read.

A lengthy communication was received from Bishop R. Dubs, D. D., of Chicago. Both of these eminent ecclesiastics wrote very encouragingly of the work of the church, notwithstanding the condition into which the unfortunate difficulties in the Evangelical association have plunged the ministers and laymen of the church. The communications were received with pleasure and the secretary was instructed to make suitable and appreciative reply to the same. Rev. U. F. Swanzel was appointed reporter for the United Press and Rev. J. W. Missinger was appointed reportorial chief for local papers.

A committee of fifteen on organization was appointed. An immense and enthusiastic mass meeting was held in the Pine Street Methodist Episcopal church tonight. Bishops Haman and Stanford and Rev. J. M. Ettinger, editor of the Evangelical, and others addressed the meeting.

The Three Wishes.

By
JAMES HANNERTY.

Andy Paytol was an old bachelor living in the town of Peekskill, N. Y. He had been a hardworking and upright man and enjoyed the respect of all who knew him. His business was that of carpenter and builder and while not well-off, he was in comfortable circumstances.

Alice Paytol, an adopted daughter, was the great incentive to all his hopes and pleasures, and no young lady was more deserving of the popularity she enjoyed. Being pretty and of pleasant and engaging manners, her society was constantly sought after. Many of the gay young men visiting the city during the summer could not withold their admiration. Old Andy frequently referred to her admirers, and always concluded with this remark: Now Alice don't hurt the poor dudes' feelings, for remember they have hearts as well as more sensible people. To these easing thrusts Alice would throw her arms about his neck, exclaiming: "O but you are a wise father."

One afternoon while wandering along the Hudson river bank she came upon a particularly inviting and shady spot. Here she concluded to remain and enjoy the novel she had brought along. She was soon interested in the affairs of the story, and all unconcious of the fact that she was being watched by two young men in a boat. She was suddenly aroused, however, by hearing someone exclaim "Quick, quick, the kodak!" Looking up excitedly she discovered that she was about to be photographed and to frustrate the young men's plans she hurridly raised the open book to her face, thus leaving only the cover to their view. She remained in this position until the boat had disappeared and arose to return home.

She was nervous over the occurrence, but felt a thrill of pleasure at having outwitted the piratical photographer. She was curious as to their identity, but concluded they were strangers. This incident was soon forgotten when another, equally peculiar, occurred.

It was a short advertisement which appeared in the local paper and went on to state that a stranger in Peekskill was desirous of borrowing or buying a copy of a book called "The Three Wishes."

The announcement itself was not so odd, but what interested Alice was the fact that she posessed this very book. She was undecided what to do, and though willing to lend the volume was in doubt as to how to go about it. Among her friends one evening she incidentally stated that she had a copy of the book advertised for. This was a sensation and various were the methods suggested and the propriety of lending a book under such strange circumstances. Finally one young lady declared in the strictest confidence that she knew who had advertised and that it was a he. He is stopping at our house, she continued, and is from New York City. His name is Albert Loak, and he is connected with a large publishing house. She finally concluded by asking permission to bring the gentleman to the Paytol cottage, which was granted.

A few evenings later Albert Loak called and being a well-informed young man and of good address he made a very favorable impression.

The book question came up during the evening and it was loaned to him, but under no circumstances would he explain why he had gone to so much trouble to obtain it. He told Alice—which interested her all the more—that there was a mystery about the matter, that sometime he might be free to tell it, but just then his lips were sealed. There was scarcely an evening afterward that Albert was not a visitor at the Paytol cottage, and people were already prophesying a wedding. Mr. Paytol saw how matters were drifting for Alice had confessed her preference. Albert had talked very plain and open to the old gentleman and the latter soon saw that he had the heart and wanted the hand of Alice Paytol. After the subject had been discussed for some time Mr. Paytol said: My boy I like you, and you must pardon me for going into this subject deeply, and seeming to be so worldly, but there is an old saying which has made a great impression on me and which now carries itself into this affair. The proverb says: "Shield Old Age with a Home." Now young man can you give our Alice a home of her own? I may appear a little blunt, but if you knew the circumstances you would forgive me.

Albert was somewhat dazed by the question put to him, and as he had not contemplated matrimony until he came to Peekskill, was not of course as well prepared with this world's goods as he might have been. However he explained that he earned a good salary and that they might start their married life in a modest flat.

It may seem strange and even cruel replied Mr. Paytol, but you must have a home of your own, if I am to give my consent to this union. There is a story connected with the life of Alice Paytol which she does not even know and which as circumstances seems to warrant I will relate.

To begin with, he went on, Alice is not my own, but an adopted child.

When I was a young man I lived in New York City to which place I emigrated from England with an only brother two years older than myself. He was what might be called an enthusiast, neglecting the opportunities of the possible to pursue those of the impossible. He married and I hoped would settle down, but he was a born wanderer. His wife was in delicate health and died two years after marriage leaving a baby girl.

I became the child's protector then, for the father continued to wander about bent on making a fortune without waiting for it. One afternoon, when he had been away for nearly two years, I received a telegram from the proprietor of a small hotel in Binghamton, N. Y. stating that Aaron Paytol had committed suicide. I immediately started for the unhappy scene and there learned the particulars of the unhappy deed and received a letter addressed to me.

After properly burying him I departed for home; and I frequently returned thanks that Alice was too young to understand her great sorrow.

Here Mr. Paytol produced a document, saying: This is the letter my brother left me and which I desire you should read. You will then realize why I have been so particular about this matter and you will, I think perceive that it has not been without cause.

Albert took the letter with a trembling hand and read the following:

"Binghampton, N. Y.

My Dear Brother:—Instead of preparing to "Shield old age with a home" I have wasted my opportunities and will within the hour have left this world of everlasting trouble. You and I have been companions since childhood. You were more reasonable in your desires and have prospered. I have been a failure. To you I leave all I have, my daughter Alice. If she grows up and should ever be asked in marriage guard her carefully, and above all things do not give your consent to the Union unless her prospective husband can provide her with a home of his own. If he loves her he will see reason in the demand. To further relieve you of any responsibility in the matter and to emphasize my request read this letter to him that he may know my story.

Good bye dear Andy, the world has seemed too hard for me and I want to leave it before I become a burden. I suppose we all have troubles but mine are beyond my bearing. Forgive me. Good bye. Your brother,

AARON.

Quite a silence followed the reading of the letter which was broken by Albert saying that he was deeply affected and perfectly willing to comply with the demand. He further stated that they could wait a year or so even two if necessary. I have a lot in Harlem and by close economy I can save enough to make a payment on a house; and by the way, he continued cheerfully, turning to Mr. Paytol, you shall be my builder.

Now comes my turn said the old man in great confidence. Alice and I have greatly admired a set of architectural plans of the Twilight cottage which are being advertised in the BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN. They are ready to build from and cost only 50 cents. They are guaranteed by the Universal Plan Co., and I find them correct. Alice has often talked about this cottage, and I'll just go up to New York and show them builders what Andy Paytol is made of. And further than that—said he almost whispering—I'll sell it to you and Alice for a song; and if necessary I'll furnish the song. And the old man laughed merrily over his remarks. About this time Alice became one of the party and the serious topics of conversation were immediately expelled.

The Twilight cottage wherein the ceremony was performed was lit up, and a grand evening's entertainment had been prepared for the gathered guests. After the congratulations had ceased, and their friends departed Albert Loak presented his wife with the deed of the cottage. The young couple were almost touched to tears over their happiness; but a merrier state of affairs soon followed the production of an old envelope in which was a small amatuer photograph of a young lady whose face was hidden by a book the title of which was plainly visible,

THE THREE WISHES.

And now said Albert, affectionately caressing his bride, you have an explanation for my advertising for that book.

Hood's Saved My Life

I Can Honestly Say This

"For years I was in a very serious condition with catarrh of the stomach, bowels and bladder. I suffered intensely from dyspepsia, and in fact was a miserable wreck, merely a skeleton. I seemed to go from bad to worse. I really wished I was dead. I had no rest day or night. I did not know what to do. I had taken so much medicine of the wrong kind that it had poisoned me, and my finger nails began to turn black and come off. I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. I had faith in the medicine, and it did more for me than all prescriptions. I have gradually regained perfect health, am entirely free from catarrh of the bowels, and pain in my back. My recovery is simply marvelous." W. R. YOUNG, Potter's Mills, Pa.

GIBBS MURDER.

Some Light Is at Last Thrown Upon a Very Mysterious Tragedy at Buffalo.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 14.—Sarah Robinson was brought to Buffalo from Cleveland last night by Assistant Superintendent of Police Cusark. According to his story Mrs. Robinson has not made a long confession, nor has she told anything which substantiates her story that she shot Montgomery Gibbs, but a United Press representative has learned from the most reliave source, that after an all night session with Mrs. Robinson the police secured a statement from her, the nature of which they refuse to divulge. It is understood that she, under pressure, peached on her husband, Clarence Robinson, and has made a confession charging him with the murder. According to her story she and her husband set out on that Saturday night with the intention of holding up some one. They selected a long and dark block on Delaware avenue and walked up and down, lying in wait for the first well dressed man who came along. Gibbs was the man. When Robinson demanded his valuables, Gibbs, who was a good deal of an athlete, struck at him and Robinson fired two shots, one of which inflicted the false wound in the temple.

Robinson and his wife then ran back through a driveway and out on an adjoining street. The police and the public have always entertained the theory that the murder was committed by some one who thought Gibbs had wronged him or a relation. The most popular theories that Gibbs had met a young woman at the place by appointment and her husband or father had shot him, or that a woman whom he had wronged enticed him to the place and shot him. District Attorney Kenifick and Assistant Chief of Police Cusack will go Cleveland to-morrow morning and feel confident that they will bring back the murderer of Montgomery Gibbs.

Will Revive the Dr. Briggs Case.

New York, October 14.—The complaint of the Rev. Dr Haley, of Newark, against the Newark presbytery will come before the seventy-scnond annual session of the synod of New Jersey, which meets in the Third church, Trenton, on Tuesday. The complaint revives the Dr. Brigg's case. At a recent meeting of the Newark presbytery the Rev. Dr. Lampman introduced a resolution expressing the idea that the action of the general assembly in the Briggs case was unjust. The resolution was tabled. Then the Rev. Dr. Sutphen presented a resolution declaring that the young men studying for the Presbyterian ministry would be affected, and that the result of boycotting those who studied at the Union seminary might be disastrous. The Rev. Dr. Haley said that Dr. Sutphen's resolution implied that the presbytery did not believe that a judicial of the general assembly was binding upon the church and the members. The resolution was adopted Dr. Haley then gave notice that he would lay the matter before the synod.

Burned Over Two Blocks.

Zanesville, O., Oct. 14.—The business portion of the thriving town of Chester Hill, in the western portion of Morgan county, is in ashes. At an early hour this morning a conflagration started in the centre of the town, which could not be stayed until the two best blocks in the town were entirely destroyed, with the exception of two dwelling houses. The entire population turned out and worked heroically to stay the flames, but the water gave out and they were powerless in the face of a strong wind, which was blowing at the time.

The business houses destroyed included two hardware stores, one wareroom, two groceries, one very large general store, jewelry store, tailor shop, hotel drug store furniture store, millinery store, Masonic and Odd Fellows' halls, barber shop, planing mill and eight dwelling houses. The total loss is estimated at $50,000; insurance, $15,000. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Will Contest Jay Gould's Will.

Allegan, Mich., 16.—Out in Sangatuck, this county, there lived fourteen years ago Sarah Ann Brown, who was then known Mrs. Youngpeter, and who, it was said, had some sort of mystery about her early life, but which did not develop until yesterday, when her daughter came here looking up evicence. It is now claimed that this mystery was an early marriage with Jay Gould, and it is asserted that this daughter was the result of the union of two and that they separated. The daughter will now contest Jay Gould's will under the presumption that she is his rightful heir, This girl is related to J. H. Brown, of Saugatuck and Mrs. A. H. Walker, of Douglass, both in Allegan county.

Proceedings in Howard's Case.

New York, Oct. 16.—True to their promise, the lawyers representing Levi P. Morton in the Howard case early today went down to the barge office and obtained from Howard, who had been brought over from Ellis island by an inspector, his signature to the petition for a writ of habeas corpus. The lawyers then returned to the United States circuit court and made application before Judge Lacombe. The judge signed the writ this afternoon and the petition for Howard's release is filed in the circuit court. Mr. Morton, who was in the city this morning, said that he would stand by Howard until the case was thoroughly tested and settled, and added that Howard could resume his former duties if he choose to do so.

—The Christian Endeavor Sociable held in the chapel Tuesday night for the benefit of the delegate fund was well attended A good time and acceptable refreshments were provided for one and all. The "Fiji Islanders" pantomime proved very amusing. The observation exercise brought the memory into happy play and the music and other features of pleasure made the evening a very enjoyable one to all who attended. Let us have more of such delightful occasions.

—Newspaper items are numerous conveying the news that pear and other fruit trees are in blossom in many parts of the country. Blossoming fruit trees just now in this vicinity are entirely too numerous to mention or even to be a curiosity. It is said that a tree in blossom this time of year is a sure omen of death. Of course it is nonsense, but if true the undertakers would just now be reaping a large harvest. They are not busy, however.

The Golden Star

Gold Mining Company

OF MONTANA.

Capital $300,000 divided into 300,000 shares of $1 par value each.

Non-assessable forever.

This company owns two gold mines located in a county which produced $40,000,000 in gold in six years. Has 45 acres of virgin land. Has 500 feet of underground work in shape of shafts and tunnels. Has ore in sight worth $100 per ton. Has assays from $25 to $1,500 per ton. Has shipped ore netting $36 per ton. Has such a small capitalization, only 300,000 shares and not 2,000,000 shares as other companies.

The company intends to sink a shaft through this rich $100 ore vein to a depth of several hundred feet, in order to be able to produce largely for the benefit of the stockholders which will get this profit in large monthly dividends. Hence the company offers a small amount of its stock at the extremely low price of 35 cents a share.

These shares are the investment on the financial market to-day and are better than Government Bonds as they will pay bigger interest.

TWENTY-SEVEN EXPLODED.

Fatal Accident Yesterday At the Henry Clay Colliery.

Shamokin, Pa., October 11.—Twenty-seven of a nest of thirty-six boilers at the Henry Clay colliery exploded at about half-past 7 this morning, completely destroying the boiler house, killing five men, seriously injuring two and slightly injuring four. The list of the killed and injured is as follows:

Killed—
Thomas Carr, William Boyle, William Eshlick, firemen.
William McLaughlin, laborer.
J. J. Dedlam, water boss.

Injured—
S. F. Dichanstin, fireman, seriously.
Peter Heck, laborer, not expected to live through the night.
William Quinn, lamp cleaner.
Dennis Brennan, breaker boy.
Nicholas Harris, laborer.
Frank Haddock, laborer.

At the time of the accident there were, as far as known, seven men around the boiler house. Nobody seems to be able to give a correct statement as to the cause of the explosion. Without a moment's warning the last boiler on the west side of the nest went up, and it was followed by the others in rapid succession. The workmen were knocked in every direction, and what had been but a few minutes before a strong corrugated iron building disappeared as if by magic, and all that remained was a tumbling mass of bricks and timbers, besides numerous pieces of twisted pipe and battered boiler iron.

The nine remaining boilers were so injured that they will never be used. Pieces of heavy steel were carried hundreds of yards, while a half of a boiler was found over a quarter of a mile away upon the mountain. The terrific report was heard for miles, and it was scarcely a minute before the employees were upon the scene and at once set to work to liberate the men who were under the debris.

Three were dead when taken out and the remains of some, as well as being crushed, were frightfully burned by coming in contact with the heated iron and coals from the fire boxes. Carr, Boyle and Eslick were dead when found and McLaughlin and Dedlam died soon after being removed to their homes. Fireman Dichanslin is internally hurt, besides having several fractured bones and it is feared he cannot recover. Peter Heck was knocked senseless by flying brick. His scalp is badly torn and he is severely bruised.

The disaster, coupled with the calamity on Tuesday at the Luke Fidler shaft, has plunged this city into mourning. The breakers were working at the time of the explosion this morning and the escapes were many and thrilling. The colliery is operated by the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company and is the best equipped plant of the company in this region. The pecuniary loss by the explosion will reach $100,000. Sixteen hundred men and boys are thrown out of employment. The shaft pay roll amounted to $40,000 a month. It will probably take six weeks before the ill-fated plant is able to resume. During the repairing of these big workings the Burnside and North Franklin colleries will be started.

Pattison and Hastings.

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 11. General Hastings, the next governor, will be tendered a brilliant reception by Gov. Pattison when he comes to Harrisburg in January to assume the duties of office. The retiring executive proposes to make the reception the social feature of his administration and with that in view neither labor nor expense will be spared to make it a success.

After the election a formal invitation will be tendered Gen. Hastings and family by Gov. and Mrs. Pattison to be their guests at the executive mansion during the inauguration. The governor and staff in full uniform will meet the governor-elect at the railroad depot and escort him and his family to the executive mansion. On the evening before the inauguration the incoming executive will be tendered a reception at the executive mansion after which a banquet will be served.

The guests will include Gov. Pattison and his cabinet, the heads of the departments and a few personal and political friends of the incoming governor. This will be the last appearance of Gov. Pattison and staff in public. The next to the last appearance of the governor and military family in public will be at the unveiling of the McClellan monument at Philadelphia on the 24th inst.

Expelled for Ninety-Nine Years.

Wilwaukee, Wis., Oct. 11.—The convention of the Amalgamated association of Street Car Couplers of America this morning expelled William J. Law, the first vice president of the organization, for ninety-nine years for the reason of gross mismanagement. Law lives in Detroit, and was elected president in 1892. The political platform of the American Federation of Labor was unanimously adopted, after reports were read that it had been approved by every local division represented in the convention.

To Locate Monuments.

Harrisburg, October 11.—This evening the repreeentatives of the Pennsylvania commission to locate the positions of the state regiments on the battlefield of Antietam returned. The old veterans say they had very little trouble in locating the regimental position in many instances the veterans going direct to the spot. The commission organized last evening in the Sharpsburg Lutheran church, which was used as a hospital during the battle, by electing General W. W. Greenland, of Clarion, president; Major William C. Armour, of Harrisburg, secretary, and Captain John W. Morrison, of Pittsburg, treasurer, with a vice president from each corps.

The commission think they will have trouble in placing markers in the vicinity of the old Dunkard church, as half of McClellan's army was engaged at one time or another near the church.

Students Have a Row.

Bethlehem, Pa., Oct. 11.—A row among Lehigh University students culminated last night in the bombardment of a house, which was almost demolished. A fight occurred between the sophomores and freshmen classes, all on account of a photograph. It is customary for the freshmen to have a group photograph taken during the first weeks in college, and last night was the limit set by the sophs on the time. Last week a photographer secured a sitting of the hundred or so freshmen. The sophomores by a bit of trickery had the plates mashed. The hopes of the freshmen were not so easily shattered. They got a photographer and had his camera smuggled into a house opposite the college campus. They patrolled the place, but the sophomores discovered the trick and planned an attack.

Armed with stones and stout sticks, the sophs made a dash for the house, their object being to destroy the plates the photographer might have and prevent him from taking a picture. Doors were broken open, windows shattered and then the sophomores poured in. They made a rush for the photographer, made him get out doors, and while some of them broke the plates, others ruined the camera. Meantime large numbers of freshmen collected, and a rush of the two classes occurred. The policemen arrested two students and then all pitched upon the officers and released the prisoners.

World's Fair Coins Become Current.

Washington, October 11.—The Chicago souvenir coin of the great World's Fair is to be a current half dollar. It was supposed at one time that these coins would command fancy prices as souvenirs. This expectation was not realized. The whole issue authorized by congress would have been turned over to the world's fair managers but for their violation of the agreement which was made a condition of gift in respect to opening the fair on Sunday. In consequence of this breach of agreement $1,795,980 in souvenir halves remained in the treasury at the close of the fair. A demand having recently sprung up for them at their face value Secretary Carlisle to-day issued an order to the subtreasuries directing them to pay out on demand the silver coins at the same ratio as the legalized half dollars of the United States, namely, at par with gold.

A NOBLE GIFT

PLACED IN A DAUGHTER'S HANDS

In Order That a Life's Work May Be Perpetuated.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

It was an eventful day.

One of the noblest women of the age felt the weight of years upon her.

Her whole life had been given to one grand work, and her name was known throughout the civilized world.

Before her was a younger woman, and they were seated in the great "record room," where were stored many women's stories of sorrow and joy.

Letters by the thousands, together with great books of record, containing the important points of advice and treatment in special cases, were all about them.

The elder woman turned over the leaves and read:—

"I was sorely afflicted with chronic inflammation of the womb . . . . I am now well."

Turning over another page she read:—

"They said I was consumptive, and sent me away . . . . But you opened my eyes to the truth, and through you I am well."

Another page and:—

". . . Your remedy came to me with hope, then the truth dawned upon me. You saved my life, and I bless you continually."

Then the book was closed and placed in the hands of the younger woman.

"These are the records of my victories over the peculiar diseases of women. They give the history of each case, and how it was treated.

"I am growing old. Some day I must give up the effort, and I bequeath to you my life work for the physical salvation of women. Carry it forward that all may be cured."

The elder woman was Lydia E. Pinkham. The younger was her daughter, Mrs. Charles H. Pinkham, the one woman fully equipped to carry out the requirements of this noble legacy, not only by natural endowments, but from her knowledge through constant study and years of experience in assisting her mother in her voluminous correspondence and personal treatment of woman's diseases.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will redeem women from the fearful consequences of all diseases of the womb. All druggists have it for you.

SMITH IN TROUBLE.

This Time it is William B. and He Hails From Jersey.

Washington, October 11.—William B. Smith, of Elizabeth, N. J., aged 32 years, an employe of the bureau of engraving and printing, was arrested here this afternoon for stealing 50,000 two-cent stamps from the bureau. Mr. Smith was appointed three months ago to a subordinate position in the treasury department and assigned to work in the bureau of engraving and printing. In his position he helped mail packages of postage stamps to fill orders of postmasters. On September 29 last he was given an order to fill for the postmaster at Ionia, Mich. The order called for two packages of 50,000 each. Smith put up only one package instead of two, although he took two packages of 50,000 stamps each, secreting the other about his person. On last Saturday the postmaster at Ionia, Mich., informed the proper officials here that only one package of 50,000 stamps had been received by him, although he had ordered two packages of 50,000.

The postoffice authorities and bureau of engraving officials could not account for the discrepancy, as their books were all right. They placed the matter in the hands of Chief Clerk of the Secret Service McWilliams at 1 o'clock this afternoon, and at 3 o'clock Mr. Smith was behind the bars and $60 worth of the stamps he had stolen had been recovered in one place and smaller quantities found at two other places. The secret service officers believe Smith had a confederate and expect soon to effect his arrest.

The theory is that Smith, after he stole the stamps by means of confederates, disposed of them at various places about the city. Smith by direction of Secretary Carlisle was summarily dismissed from the service of the treasury late this afternoon. Fears are expressed that other packages of postage stamps may be found missing and the robbery may be more extensive than it now appears. Postmasters will be asked to report if all orders for stamps made by them recently have been filled.

Respite For Hill.

Harrisburg, Oct. 11.—Governor Pattison to-day granted a respite to James Newton Hill, the Allegheny murderer, until Thursday, Sept 13, and not Monday, Dec. 18, as was telegraphed from here yesterday. The governor took no action on Hill's case until this morning, when he directed a respite to be issued. The respite is being prepared by Assistant Chief Clerk Hamsher, of the state department, and will be mailed to Sheriff Richards this evening in order that he may received it in the morning mail to-morrow.

The board of pardons had agreed to commute Hill's sentence to his imprisonment, but, at the request of the governor, who promised to grant him a respite, no such recommendation was made. The governor is being kept fully posted on the condition of Hill and the wound in his throat, and is confident he will never live until the expiration of his respite. Should he survive, however, the governor will commute his sentence.

Life or Death!

It is of vital importance that it should be understood by persons whose kidneys are inactive, that this condition of things is finally inductive of a state of the organs where life hangs in the balance. Bright's disease, diabetis, albuminuria are all diseases of a very obstinate character in mature stage, and all have a fatal tendency. They often baffle the most practiced medical skill, and the most approved remedies of materia medica. But opposed at the outset—that is to say, when the kidneys begin to discharge their functions inactively—with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the dangerous tendency is checked. Very useful, also is this household medicine for those ailments of common occurrence—constipation, biliousness, dyspepsia and nervousness. It is a safeguard against malaria and averts chronic rheumatism.

Pulled Some Spikes.

Denver, Col., Oct 11.—Soon after midnight a bold attempt was made seven miles south of Denver to wreck an eastbound Santa Fe passenger train for the purpose of robbery, it is believed Spikes were pulled from the rails, and the engine baggage car, coach, chair car and sleeper ran off on the ties. The damage was trifling and no one was hurt, but the track was blocked for five hours.

The ground for the robbery theory is that a man called at South Denver early in the night and intimated that the train was to be wrecked and robbed. Orders were given it to proceed slowly, but it was not supposed that the attempt would be made so near the city, and the train was running at a speed of eight miles an hour. There is yet no clue to the miscreants.

The Conferree System.

Harrisburg, Oct. 11.—When the Thirty-fourth district democratic senatorial deadlock came before the Dauphin county court to-day, Judge McPherson spoke of the conferree system as a concession to neighborhood pride and having the distinct advantage of preventing populous counties from exercising power unduly. On the other hand he pointed out that it fosters a spirit of particularism and may give a small county more than its proper influence. In conclusion he suggests that a district convention, to which the democratic party in each county should confide the subject for consideration and authorative action could change the custom even against the vote and wish of an unwilling county.

Arrested on a Charge of Perjury.

Guthrie, O. T., Oct. 11.—Charles W. Garland, a prominent republican politician was arrested to-day on a charge of perjury in a land case. For a month or more from one to three residents of the territory have been arrested daily on the same charge. Fully 200 indictments are now pending in the United States courts for the same crime, and about fifty persons have been sentenced to the penitentiary all for committing perjury in attempting to secure a homestead under the present nefarious land laws.

Scrofula

Miss Della Stevens, of Boston, Mass., writes: I have always suffered from hereditary Scrofula, for which I tried various remedies, and many reliable physicians, but none relieved me. After taking 6 bottles of S.S.S. I am now well. I am very grateful to you, as I feel that it saved me from a life of untold agony, and shall take pleasure in speaking only words of praise for the wonderful medicine, and in recommending it to all.

Notes from the Y. M. C. A.

This is the season for revival of interest in all enterprises; moral as well as business. The Young Men's Christian Association is an institution that must keep abreast of the times, in order to attract the young from the gilded dens of iniquity. This may be done to a great extent by each one of our members doing his best in advertising the advantages of the Association among their acquaintances. This is a simple way of doing a many-sided good. Many young men who would be permanently benefited by the gymnasium or the social features, have taken no interest because they have never realized its helpfulness for them. A personal word will go much further than printed matter with such men. Our members can do no greater favor for their friends than to call their attention to those features of the Association which will be most beneficial to them.

The Sunday afternoon men's meeting has been well attended during September, and the interest manifested promises much for the autumn and winter work. Preparations for the week of prayer (Nov. 11-18.) are about completed. A well-known evangelist is expected to be with us.

The physical department work this season will be superior to that of last year, although the work of last year was highly satisfactory and many young men were intensely interested. Each year ought to be an improvement upon the preceding year. The introduction of new methods and features, the adding of new prices of apparatus now and then, the appearance of new force on the gymnasium floor, the returning of old and familiar forces, the better understanding of the work by the community, should give the work impetus and permanency.

We invite the hearty co-operotion of christian workers in a renewed effort to reach men with the Gospel message, through our Sunday afternoon meetings. In the past these services have been of great benefit to large numbers of men, but we are determined to widen their influence. Members who are willing to help in this effort are requested to consult Mr. N. S. Bailey Chairman of the Religious meeting committee, or the General Secretary.

Young men wishing to attend the State Convention at Johnstown next week, should send in their application at once to Secretary Cota. Low railroads rates, and free entertainment during the convention.

Not Treated Fairly.

Members of the Logan Steam Fire Engine company have made complaint that they are not being treated fair by the Street committee of the Borough Council. They some months ago purchased a team of horses with the understanding that they were to be given all the hauling the committee had to do. This was done for some time, but of late the Street committee has been employing other teams to the entire exclusion of the Logan boys, and as it costs them about $60 a month to keep the team, which is principally for the borough's benefit, the firemen think they are not being treated fairly. And, it must be admitted, it looks that way.

"And the Cat Came Back."

A Tyrone merchant owns a cat, a valuable little animal to said merchant, but the feline was a source of a large amount of annoyance to a neighbor. One day not long ago said neighbor had occasion to drive into the country, and he captured the cat and took it along with him, dropping it on the way in a locality that he was sure would be mysterious enough to forever prevent the animal from finding his way back to Tyrone. But to the neighbor's surprise upon stepping into the merchant's store after arriving home the first object that met his gaze was that same cat. The animal had made a bee line for town and beat the neighbor home.

A Child Horribly Burned.

This morning at about 11 o'clock little Harvey Paul, adopted child of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Cowen, was horribly burned at the family home on Pennsylvania avenue. Mr. Cowen was in the kitchen blacking a stove and Mrs. Cowen was in another part of the house doing some work pertaining to house cleaning. The child was in a middle room near the one where Mr. Cowen was, riding a hobby horse, when Mr. Cowen heard the child scream. He at once ran to it, and found its clothes in a sheet of flame, and a paper lying on the floor burning also. He picked the child up, quickly wrapped its head in a rug that was near and ran out to a bucket of water which he dashed on the child and extinguished the fire, but too late to save it from a most horrible burning. While in its agony in the arms of Mr. Cowen it rubbed its face against that of Mr. Cowen and a portion of the burnt skin and flesh stuck to the man's beard. Its entire face and much of its body were burned to a crisp, and at this writing it is only a question of minutes or hours till death must come to the little sufferer. The child was two years old on the 9th of September last.

Mr. Cowen was considerably burned on both hands in his efforts to save the child. As there was no fire in the room, it is thought a match must have been ignited by the action of the hobby horse which the child was riding.—Tyrone Herald.

Tell the Editor.

It is the desire of the editor of this paper to publish all the local news worthy of note. Deaths, births and marriages in particular. People die but once and are born but once, and the majority marry but once, and it is right and proper that a creditable notice be given of the event, but an editor can be at but one place at a time to find out these things, and must rely to a great extent on the people to inform him; therefore we request you, each and all, to inform us in some way of occurrences. "Many hands make light work." But some one may say they get no pay for such things. To such we simply say keep your mouth shut close. The editor gets nothing either for talk; but it takes cash to pay the printer and buy material. After paying these bills the editor gets what is left, if not, he is left. Send us the news and see if you don't feel paid before you go to heaven. Everybody should be willing to impart useful information. A newspaper is very much like a public school. The patrons of the school furnish the pupils, and send them to the teacher who fits and shapes them up so they will be useful and sends them back to the patrons. So the patrons must furnish the news and send it to the editor who fits and shapes it and sends it out to all the patrons. A teacher cannot teach a boy who don't come to school; neither can an editor publish news that don't reach his office. Do you see the point now?

Battery B at Home.

Says Thursday's Pittsburg Press: Battery B arrived home at midnight, after attending the funeral of ex-Governor Curtin at Bellefonte.

Private Powell received painful but not serious injury by the team which he was driving falling. He was sent to his home on the South Side.

Two other men were slightly hurt, the horses furnished the battery not being accustomed to the firing.

All the troops were given a splendid dinner at the rooms of the Y. M. C. A. and were well pleased with their treatment by the people of Bellefonte.

Awarded the Land.

The board of property has directed Secretary Stewart to issue a warrant to the Rockhill Iron company, of Huntingdon county, for a valuable piece of coal land on the Broad Top mountain. The land is known as the Robert Pattison tract and is claimed by the company, whose claim was contested by Thos. W. Moore, of Curwensville. The case has been pending before the board for over two years, and will be carried into the courts in an ejectment suit which Mr. Moore will bring to determine the rights of the company as to the ownership of the land.

Daughters of Andrew Gregg Hurt.

On last Saturday as Misses Annie and Mary Gregg, daughters of Andrew Gregg, of near Centre Hall, were driving down the Nittany mountain toward their home, their horse frightened and ran away, throwing both girls out. They were both seriously hurt and rendered unconscious by the fall, and when they did not return home at the time they were expected, friends went to look for them. The search was rewarded by finding the young ladies lying by the roadside unconscious and the elder with blood oozing from her head. They are both recovering.

Big Telephone Privilege.

The Cambria Iron Company, of Johnstown, is reported to have secured the use of the long distance telephone service, six hours each day, or half of each hour in the day. This new departure is said to be an advantage over the telegraph service in enabling the officers of the company to discuss matters pertaining to the iron market with their agents in the various cities direct.

Ripans Tabules: one gives relief.

The Beech Creek's Service.

There is now in operation on the Beech Creek Railroad, a most excellent through car service from all points on their line to Philadelphia and intermediate points on the Phila. & Reading Railroad. The through car makes connection in Philadelphia; at the Reading Terminal station, with the famous two hour train of the Phila. & Reading Railroad, between that city and New York. They also have a similar first class service, returning from Philadelphia; the train leaving the Reading Terminal in that city at 11.30 p. m., with through Pullman Buffet Sleeping car attached, to Clearfield.

Going to Philadelphia, this train leaves Mill Hall at 9.52 p. m., arriving at Philadelphia at 7.12 a. m. Returning, the through car arrives at Mill Hall at 8.16 a. m. Direct connection is made at Mill Hall, with trains to and from Belletonte. This through service also opens up another route to Harrisburg. As passengers leaving this city at 8.30 p. m., can reach Harrisburg at 7.00 a. m.

The Beech Creek Railroad also have another very accommodating feature, that will be appreciated by the traveling public. Mileage books issued by that Company, are accepted for passage on the entire Reading system, the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburg Railroad and the Central R. R. of Penna. If issued to any individual, they will be accepted for passage by any member of the holder's family, or when purchased by a firm, the ticket can be used by any member or employee of the firm.

Must Pay the Auditors.

The opinion of Supreme Justice Dean was published last week deciding that borough auditors who do the work of filing, preparing and distributing borough election tickets are entitled to compensation. The question was raised by Patrick Corr of Lackawanna county on these facts. First. He held meetings to receive nomination certificates and to hear objections to same, received notices of withdrawal and filled out certificates for watchers for one day. Second. Arranged ballots, corrected proof, for that purpose going to and from the printing office, one day. Third. Distributed ballots to the proper officers of the several districts of the borough, one day. For these three days he filed a bill for $6, and the commissioners declined to pay it. A case stated was presented to the court before Judge Archibald, who decided against Corr, and, on appeal to the supreme court, the decision was reversed, and Corr will get his money.

Struck Gas.

This morning County Treasurer McCrea received a letter from F. H. Hoh, president of the Salt Lick gas and oil company, giving the cheering news that gas had been struck at a depth of about 500 feet in the well now being drilled near Karthaus. The flow was quite strong, necessitating the extinguishing of all fires near the well. The machinery, which was broken a few days ago, has been repaired and drilling has again been resumed.

The striking of this gas means that there are quantities of this illuminant and fuel in that region. If it can be found in paying quantities, it will be piped to towns and cities in this section of the state, and our people will then realize what a convenience it is to have it so handy. Operations on the tract of land purchased by the company will now be pushed with haste, so as to determine as speedily as possible whether there is money in the investment or not.—Thursday's Lock Haven Democrat.

The Evangelicals.

The Evangelical congregations of Centre Hall and Penns Valley, are almost unanimously adherents of the Dubs wing, against whom the recent decision of the supreme court has gone. These people built churches, erected parsonages, and graveyards out of their own private funds, and are expected to hand all this property over to the Bowman-Esherites, who gained the case. This seems hard too.

What the ultimate outcome of the decision will be, is a matter that will soon develop. What does the Bowman party want with churches that will have no followers? Will the Dubs people erect new churches and new parsonages? A few years will tell.

In some localities the Dubs people have already taken steps to erect new churches and set up an independent church.

Contrary to Law.

It is contrary to law, and has frequently been so decided by the courts, for any member or members of any board or body of public officials to contract with any of their number to do labor, hauling, or be interested in any purchase or contract by such board or body, directly or indirectly. The labor, contracts, etc., must be by persons outside. To be interested in any such work, purchase or contract, by such a member is a criminal offense. The law does not permit such officials to make contracts with themselves for their benefit. Boards of officials should make a note of this important fact, that they dare not engage one of their number to do certain things in which there is wages or profit, because it invariably leads to corruption.

Reunion.

The seventeenth reunion of the 7th Pennsylvania cavalry will take place at Lock Haven October 23 and 24. There are 700 survivors, of which 620 reside in Penna. It is to be hoped that all who are able to attend will do so as it is the intention to make this reunion a happy one but also a memorable one, and as many of the survivors of Co. E. which was from this county, still reside here will attend if possible.

Court Martial.

A regimental court martial was held in the armory of company I, N. G. P., on Friday and Saturday. Lieutenant Stackpole, of company G, was judge advocate and Major McNamara president. Harry McMullin, John McElfish, Joseph Montgomery and Samuel Croyle were charged with drunkenness, disorderly conduct and disobeying order on their way home from the encampment at Gettysburg. The young men plead not guilty and were defended by McMullin. They were found guilty of the first charge, but the other two were not proven. A fine of five dollars was imposed. This must be paid before November 1, or the offenders will be confined in jail five days. William Border and Corporal Cessna plead guilty to the charge of drunkenness and escaped with a reprimand. All the charges were preferred by Captain Drenning.

A New Step to the Front.

Last Monday evening a number of the colored citizens of Bellefonte were called together for the purpose of organizing a Hasting's Republican club. The meeting was a great success, A. V. Jackson, Esq., acting as president. A permanent organization was effected by the choice of the following officers: For President, A. V. Jackson; Vice President, A. C. Piper; Secretary, L. C. Green; Assistant Secretary John Mackey; Sergeant at Arms, L. Pennington. The meeting was large and enthusiastic. It was arranged that the club should meet every Monday and Thursday evenings at 9 o'clock sharp at the Republican Headquarters in the Bush Arcade. We hope that all the colored citizens of Bellefonte will attend these meetings and help carry on the work.

Newspapers of the World.

Of all the newspapers, big and little, good and bad, published throughout the world more more than half are printed in the English language. Think of that!

United States and Canada lead with 20,934.

Great Britain is second with 8,000, followed closely by Germany's 6,000.

The French support 4,300, little Japan 2,000 and the land of macaroni and hand organs 1,500.

It requires exactly 1,200 to satisfy the literary tastes of the natives of Austro-Hungary.

Asia, exclusive of Japan, prints 1,000. Spain 850, and the czar, with the aid of his censors, edits 800.

Australia is also credited with 800, Greece 200 less, Switzerland 450, Holland and Belgium 300 each, all others 1,000.

A NARROW ESCAPE!
How it Happened.
The following remarkable event in a lady's life will interest the reader: "For a long time I had a terrible pain at my heart, which fluttered almost incessantly. I had no appetite and could not sleep. I would be compelled to sit up in bed and belch gas from my stomach until I thought every minute would be my last. There was a feeling of oppression about my heart, and I was afraid to draw a full breath. I couldn't sweep a room without sitting down and resting; but, thank God, by the help of New Heart Cure all that is past and I feel like another woman. Before using the New Heart Cure I had taken different so-called remedies and been treated by doctors without any benefit until I was both discouraged and disgusted. My husband bought me a bottle of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and am happy to say I never regretted it, as I now have a splendid appetite and sleep well. I weighed 125 pounds when I began taking the remedy, and now I weigh 130½. Its effect in my case has been truly marvelous. It far surpasses any other medicine I have ever taken or any benefit I ever received from physicians."—Mrs. Harry Starr, Pottsville, Pa., October 12, 1892.
Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is sold on a positive guarantee by all druggists, or by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles $5, express prepaid. This great discovery by an eminent specialist in heart disease, contains neither opiates nor dangerous drugs.

A woman nearby saw the accident and ran to the little one's assistance. Dr. Seibert attended to the wound and the child is getting along as well as can be expected.

—The mock trial in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium Monday evening proved a fair success throughout, about fifteen dollars being realized for the Y. M. C. A's benefit. E. R. Chambers, Esq., made a good judge, and as district attorney Francis Speer was a great success, while Samuel Gettig defended the prisoner with all the ardor of a rising young attorney. The jury acquitted the prisoner, Mr. Harris Heylmun and divided the costs between the judge and district attorney.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

What the Borough Fathers Did on Monday Night.

Council convened on Monday evening with miller, Williams, Gerberich, Beaver, Hillibish, Brockerhoff, Bush and Garman present promptly at 7 o'clock. Clerk Isaac Mitchell read the minutes of the previous meeting which were approved as read.

There were no verbal communications made to council.

A written communication was received from J. C. Meyer, Esq., enclosing bill of costs in the injunction case of Robert McCalmont vs. Bellefonte Borough and asking for immediate payment of same; also enclosing judgment and bill of costs in the damage case of James E. Solt against the borough, total amount of $571.

The Street committee reported the bridge over the race on High street repaired; also the boardwalk from High street to the new depot has been straightened up and put in a condition considered safe for winter. Curtin street is being graded and the clay taken from there is being put on Lamb and Spring streets to raise the grade of those thoroughfares. Circulars have been sent all over the country asking for bids to light the town with electric light; quite a number of answers have been received and some definite action will be taken in this matter in the near future. A new crossing is being put down on Allegheny street from Joseph Bros to Lyon's store. The railroad siding being put in from the new Central railroad to the gas and steam heat works is being put down to the grade given by the borough engineer.

The Water committee reported all leaks repaired and the works running in good shape.

The Market committee reported $5,40 market fees collected during the past two weeks.

The Finance committee reported a balance in the hands of the borough treasurer, Charles F. Cook, of $1,703.74,

John Blanchard, Esq., appeared in behalf of the Bellefoute Gas Company to enter protest against the uncovering of the various gas pipes on Curtin street by the grading of that thoroughfare. The gas company feel that they should not be put to the extra expense of lowering their pipes, but that the same should be done by the borough.

The matter of the costs in the injunction case was held over until the return of the borough solicitor.

The question of the Solt verdict and costs was referred to the Finance committee for investigation and report.

On motion the borough treasurer was instructed to pay the balance due on the Curtin lot, a matter of some eleven hundred dollars.

Mr. Corman asked permission to put up a little building on the corner by High street bridge, where Finkbinder's photograph show case now stands. Permission was granted.

Quite a discussion was then indulged in over the siding being put up Lamb street, but it all ended in allowing the railroad company to go ahead, as they were conforming exactly to the action of council.

On motion the matter of the crossing from the Brockerhoff House to Joseph Bros. was referred to the Street committee.

The following bills were approved after which council adjourned.

A Credit to the Commonwealth.

Aside from political considerations, however, Hastings is a sufficiently popular and distinguished citizen of this Commonwealth to be entitled to a cordial welcome from the people of all political creeds. His personality is not commonplace, nor has his candidacy grown out of mere political machinations. The emergency presented by the Johnstown flood brought him before the people of Pennsylvania in a manner which then and there stamped him as a leader of men, deserving of special honors. There was at that time no division of opinion between Democrats and Republicans as to the fact that Daniel H. Hastings is a man every inch of him, and a credit to the great Commonwealth which had the benefit of his services in a period that tried men's souls The Hastings who come here to-day is the same Hastings that won laurels at Johnstown, not a whit altered by his Gubernatorial boom, and just as fairly entitled as ever to a unanimous popular welcome. The Democrat who is too much of a partisan to admit this is more of a Democrat than a Pennsylvanian.—Pittsburg Leader.

Joseph Bros. are going to sell out their immence stock of goods regardless of cost in order to clear out their rooms and set workmen to remodeling the store, it will be enlarged into one of the finest store rooms in the county, work will be commenced next spring. Between now and then their stock worth over thirty thousand dollars will be sold. Now is the chance to buy. See advertisement in another column.

We call the attention of our readers to the two large advertisments of Lyon & Co. which appears for the first time in this issue of the REPUBLICAN our readers will find them interesting reading. The prices they are selling goods for is certainly very low, a surprise to everybody. Read the wonderfully low prices at which they offer to sell goods. There is nothing like it and never was.

On the Oil Field.

Hon. J. W. Smith, County Treasurer McCrea and John Schuyler, Jr., during their brief stay at the oil well near Karthaus Saturday learned much of a gratifying character. The gas which was struck by the drillers a few days ago was sufficient in quantity to furnish fuel for a boiler for a twenty-horse power engine. The gas would have been used for that purpose, but the bed of sand from which it sprang was strongly impregnated with salt water. This salt water comes, it is believed, from the wells that were drilled several years ago in that locality for salt. These wells were never properly cased and the water has filtered through it until it has saturated the sand where the gas is. So much there is of this salt water that the drillers have been so hard pushed in their boring to get below the point where the liquid comes from to keep the well from filling up. The well for a depth of 430 feet is ten inches in diameter and is iron cased to that depth. From that point an eight inch drill is being used. The men will go to a depth of two thousand feet before they will give up hope of finding either oil or gas.

The fact that gas has been struck has created great excitement in that region. Large crowds visit the field every day, a special train of interest citizens going up from Renovo last Friday.—Lock Haven Democrat.

Showers' Forgeries.

J. L. Showers, the young man arrested in Olean, N. Y., for forgery and brought to this place last week for trial at the November term of court, seems to have been an adept with the pen. A list of his forgeries as taken from the Olean Herald is as follows:

The total amount of checks known to have been forged by him so far aggregates about $500, of which amount he negotiated about $250. He is wanted by George E. Leister, of Phillipsburg, Pa., to account for a worthless check he passed for $41; by J. M. Newbauer of Bellefonte, Pa., for forging his check for $39 and negotiating it at Tyrone, Pa.; by J. D. Hepburn at Mahaffney, Pa., for cashing a forged check for $15 on him; by Landlord Esterline of the Irvin House at Lock Haven, Pa., for passing a forged check on him for $39, and by Landlord McFarland of the St. Elmo hotel in Eldred for passing a bogus check on him for $39. Besides the above he negotiated a check on Landlord King of the Sartwell House at Port Alleghany for $64, which he settled, and had in his possession two forged checks, one on D. Cohn & company at Coudersport for $40, and the other for $54 drawn on the Blair county bank of Tyrone.

—A few days ago we published an item recalling the eighteen inch fall of snow on October 5, 1835, of which Major Jesse R. Crawford, of Gaysport has a vivid recollection. Robert Waring Esq., of Tyrone also recalls vividly that early snow storm, though he is certain from his recollection and records that it occurred one year later than started, that is on October 5, 1836. Mr. Waring was then living with his grand father, William Waring, two miles from Philipsburg, in Clearfield county. He remembers well how the heavy snow fell upon the spruce and pine trees, and the breaking of limbs in the forest kept up a continual crackling quite out of the ordinary.

A Lucky Woman.

When Mrs. David Brubaker, a Harrisburg lady purchased a can of oysters at a grocery store she didn't know she was purchasing a precious precious stone but such proved to be the case. Upon her arrival home she opened the can and out rolled a lot of oysters and — a pearl. She didn't eat the pearl though but took it to a jeweler who told her it was worth at least eight dollars.

Typhoid Fever Preventive.

A decoction of cinnamon is recommended as a drink to be taken freely in localities where there is typhoid fever or cholera, for cinnamon has the power to destroy all infectious microbes. Even its scent kills them, while it is perfectly harmless to human beings. It is said that the essence of cinnamon when exposed in the sick room, will kill typhoid bacilli in twelve hours and prevent fresh cases.

EPWORTH LEAGUE AT ALTOONA.

Six Hundred Delegates in Attendance.

The third annual convention of the Central Pennsylvania Conference Epworth League, began its sessions in the Chestnut Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, Altoona Tuesday afternoon with an attendance of about 600 delegates. This convention represents the Altoona, Harrisburg, Juniata, Danville and Williamsport districts of the Methodist church—fully two-thirds of the state and the Methodist membership represented is fully 200,000 souls.

At the afternoon session, after the opening exercises and the appointment of committees, the subjects discussed were: "Spiritual Work at the Church," by Mrs. E. P. Walker, of Alexandria; Mrs. Rev. G. W. Faus, of Costello, and others. "Spiritual Work Away from the Church," by W. T. Bair, of Philipsburg; Rev. C. W. Roop, of James Creek, and others. "Mercy and Help," by Miss Ada M. C. Hartzell, Newport; Miss Hattie Kersteter, Lewisburg; Miss Lucy Evans, Williamsport, and others.

In the evening there were meetings in the main audience room and in the lecture room of the church, and also in the main audience room and lecture room of the First church, at all of which the same program was observed, and the rooms were filled to their utmost.

At the Chestnut avenue church, the greeting was given by Rev. M. L. Ganoe, of this city, and responded to by Rev. E. M. Stevens, of Harrisburg.

The papers discussed were by Mrs. Rose Mullen Eveland, of Shippenburg, on "The pledge and worldly amusements," "the league and liquor traffic," by Sterling W. Dickson, of Shamokin, and "the pledge and church loyalty," by Joseph P. Luce, of Harrisburg. These discussions were participated in by many, and were very interesting.

Died Near Philipsburg.

Last Sunday at 5 minutes before 2 o'clock a. m., Clara J., wife of Henry Hollobaugh died at her home at Point Lookout near Philipsburg. She was afflicted with consumption, her sickness therefore was a long and tedious one. At the last she died peacefully expressing her readiness for the great change that awaited her. She was completely resigned, having strong faith in the World's Redeemer. Often during her prolonged illness she was visited by christian friends who contributed much to her happiness during her last days. She was born April 14, 1854, at the time of her death being aged 40 years and 6 months. She was born near Milesburg. Her maiden name was Clara J. Stanley. She was married to Mr. Hollobaugh on July 5, 1873, and she leaves to mourn her loss a husband, two daughters and a son, namely: Ida, wife of Thomas Duke, a young son at home, and Maggie, a bright little girl not yet two years old. One daughter, Bertha, died in May, 1893. Her mother, Mrs. Margaret Stanley, is still living and attended her daughter in her sickness for several months. A brother, George Stanley, of Milesburg, also survives her. A brother Thomas died last August at Milesburg and now the death of her daughter is another sad blow to the aged mother. We join with the friends of the bereaved in expressing sympathy with the loss they have sustained. The funeral took place last Monday afternoon the services being held at the M. E. church. The pastor, Rev. Dr. Miller and Rev. W.H. Lingenfelter officiated. Most of the friends and relatives of Mrs. Hollobaugh live in the vicinity of Milesburg and Bellefonte. The facts in the above notice were obtained from the Philipsburg Journal of last Monday.

FROM STATE COLLEGE.

A party of ten or twelve prominent Pittsburg people arrived Monday to visit their sons attending college and to be present at the Board meeting. They are at the University Inn.

Mrs. Clark, of Pittsburg, has taken the lease of the Inn, Mr. Westcott returning to Atlantic City at the end of this week.

At chapel, Friday morning of last week, Pres. Atherton spoke of the gentlemanly bearing of the cadets at the funeral of Gov. Curtin but regretted that they had forgotten themselves in giving political cheers upon such an occasion. For discharging his gun in front of the Bush House during the cheering, one student was suspended, military orders having been issued forbidding the use of the ammunition save for the general salute.

Fears are entertained that Lafayette will cancel her game with State on next Saturday. She defeated Gettysburg by 36 to 0 whilst State won from Gettysburg by 60 to 0.

Electives in Political Economy and Constitutional history will hereafter be offered the non-Engineering students in the upper classes. The College will soon greatly strengthen this side of her work and, consequently, will attract students desiring such instruction.

Killed at DuBois.

While working in DuBois' mill at DuBois Friday Sutton Davis was killed by having a stick fly off the edging machine and penetrate his bowels. The wife of the dead man was brought home a few days ago from the Danville asylum, in which institution she had been for nine years.

Extensive Timber Land Deal.

DuBois Courier: H. E. Ginter, of this place, and Theodore Pantall, of Punxsutawney, have purchased of Adrian Iselin all of the Iselin coal lands in Brady. Messrs. Ginter and Pantall expect to handle the lumber without delay. They will cut and ship the most of it by rail to Punxsutawney, put it in the creek at that place and float it to Pittsburg. The operation will furnish employment to quite a number of men for possibly four or five years.

Uncle Sam's Pensioners.

The report of Commissioner of Pensions Lochren for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1894, has been submitted to the Secretary of the Interior. The number of pensioners on the rolls June 30, 1893, was 966,012; during the year 39,084 new pensioners were added, 37,951 were dropped for death and other causes, and 2,398 previously dropped were restored to the rolls. The number of pensioners upon the rolls on June 30, 1894, was 969,544. The number of pension certificates issued was 80,113, and 132,837 claims were rejected.

New claims of all kinds have fallen off from 363,799 in 1891 to 40,148 in 1894, the fact being that original claims for pensions under existing laws are substantially all in, and the bulk of new claims are for increase, or for widows and dependants.

The amount paid for pensions was $137,804,461, leaving a balance in the treasury of $25,205,712 of the appropriations. The report declares that much dishonesty and fraud, mainly attributable to unscrupulous claim agents, was uncovered, and there were 194 convictions in the United States Courts for pension frauds, perjury and forgeries.

Are You Ready to Give Thanks?

The past year has been a pretty hard one for most folks; but with it all, every one, if he will think the matter over calmly, has some one thing, if no more, to be truly thankful for this Thanksgiving, be it only that things are not worse. Those who have not yet made up their minds what they have to be thankful for should read the symposium in Demorest's Magazine for November, in which a number of well-known people give their answers to the question "What Have We to Give Thanks For?" The answers are characteristic, and will set every reader "a thinkin."

And this is truly a specially interesting number. The article on "The Queen of Korea" give us glimpses of many unique things behind the scenes in the palaces of "the hermit kingdom," and the numerous illustrations, many of them from drawings by Korean artists, bring the far away little kingdom very near to us. Together with many other articles of great interest every member of the family is sure to find something individual interest in every number of Demorest's, which is published for only $2 a year, by W. Jennings Demarest, 15 E. 14 St., New York.

At this writing it is not known how seriously Mr. Brown is injured, but it is thought that he will recover.

DEAD FOR A WEEK.

The Body of Edward Hartley Found at His Shop in Bellwood Saturday.

Coroner Michael Poet was called to Bellwood on Saturday morning to hold an inquest over the remains of Edward Hartley, who was found dead in his tailor shop at that place by W. F. Balsbach, proprietor of the Bellwood Bulletin, and Joseph Scheeline several hours before. The body was badly decomposed and the fact that he had not been seen for nearly a week leads to the belief that he has been dead about that long. An empty two ounce laudanum bottle, which was found on a trunk near where the man lay, told how he his quietus made. A jury was sworn by the coroner and the depositions of several witnesses taken, when, after a short deliberation, the following verdict was rendered: "The deceased came to his death from an over dose of laudanum, whether with suicidal intent or not the jury is unable to say."

Hartley was born in England. Many years ago he visited America, but returned to the land of his birth, only to return to this country shortly afterwards. He had been here about ten years. He was twice married, his first wife and children being dead. His second wife and children reside at 1513 Twenty-eighth avenue. The deceased was a tailor by trade and only returned from Jersey City a short time ago, where he had been in search of employment. He opened a shop in Bellwood, which he had been conducting ever since. —Altoona Times.

Foster on the Weather.

My last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm wave to cross the continent from the 13th to 17th, and the next will reach the Pacific coast about the 18th, cross the western mountains by close of 19th, the great central valleys from 20th to 22d, and the eastern states about the 23d. Unusually warm weather will precede and accompany this disturbance, and not much rain may be expected. The warm wave will cross the western mountains about the 18th, the great central valleys about the 20th and the eastern states about the 22d. The cool wave will cross the western mountains about the 21st, the great central valleys about the 23d and the eastern states about the 24th. No cause is in sight that calls for severe wintry weather near the date of this disturbance, but tropical hurricanes are liable to occur in this month, and when they are in the vicinity of the West Indies a cold wave may surely be expected. A severe frost in the cotton belt is expected near Oct. 28.

Married at Ninety-Six.

The oldest bride and groom in West Virginia are Mr. and Mrs. John Shilling. Mr. Shilling is in his 96th year, while the blushing bride, Miss Ruth Sears, is over 74. They both live on Sugar Loaf Mountain, Grant county, and have known each other for sixty years. They "courted" fifty-four years before making up their minds. The wedding took place at Zion church Sunday week, and the ceremony was performed by Rev. Randall. Before the marriage ceremony the bride and groom were both baptised and admitted into the church.

Encouraged at the Outlook.

The Lancaster New Era says that in a quiet sort of a way a good deal of cased tobacco changed hands. The business was well distributed and this is all the more encouraging, as it indicates an increasing demand, evidently arising from the actual demands of the manufacturing trade. The sales aggregate 830 cases, which is an increase of 605 cases over the transactions of last week. For the corresponding week of last year the sales were 443 cases. The Era says that the outlook is very encouraging to the dealers.
